To Pave Uptown Spur, Study Turn-Off Later

Will Start Blacktop Next Week

Maiden Lane Turn Likely Solution

Kingston's triangular traffic pattern at the eastern end of the arterial route spur is due for paving next week with no compromise left turn at the juncture of Broadway and Albany Avenue, but with promise of a later, satisfactory change.

A survey will be made, it was decided at Albany Wednesday, to determine feasibility of a left-turn or "turn-around" area near the intersection of Maiden Lane and Albany Avenue. This, it was reported, would be satisfactory to merchants in the traffic pattern area.

Work to Advance

Blacktopping of the traffic circle at the Route 28-Thruway interchange progressed this week, will soon be finished, and work advanced on spans over the Sawkill Road, Esopus Creek and mountain branch of the New York Central Railroad.

Engineers emphasized at the Albany hearing yesterday that a left turn at the western end of the Kingston traffic pattern would require a light that would back up traffic at other intersections in the area.

To Study Proposal

Relief sought by the merchants, it was suggested, could be achieved through the "Maiden Lane" plan without hampering results in the area and a study of the proposal will be made.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, of Woodstock, who met in Albany with Henry TenHagen, chief state public works engineer and a group of local merchants, informed Mayor Edwin F. Radel of the decision in a letter of this date.

Others At Session

Also at the session were Herbert Myers, president of the Central Businessmen's Association; Louis Provenzano, Chic's Rendezvous; Cople Barnovitz, Franklin Pharmacy; John DeGasperis, Governor Clinton Market, and Harris Brown, area property owner.

It was shown in Albany, Assemblyman Wilson informed the mayor, "to the satisfaction" of the local group, "that a left turn at the western end of the arterial intersection would be impractical."

However, he wrote, "an alternate plan was proposed, and tentatively accepted by the State Department of Public Works. This plan is to design at the in-

Stockholders Will Vote on Merger of 2 Uptown Banks

John H. Saxe, president of The State of New York National Bank, announced today that the bank has received preliminary approval from the Comptroller of Currency for the consolidation of The National Ulster County Bank of Kingston and The State of New York National Bank.

Announcement was made some time ago of a proposal for consolidation of the two Wall Street banks.

A meeting of the stockholders of each of the banks will be held in the near future to vote on the consolidation.

Kingston Kiwanis to Honor Patrolman of Year Nov. 12

Officer Meyer Levy of 60 Abbey Street, a member of the Kingston Police Department for nine years, has been named "Policeman of The Year" by the Kingston Kiwanis Club.

Mortimer H. Englander, chairman of the Public Affairs committee of the local Kiwanis Club, said today that Officer Levy was selected by a citizens committee to be honored by the local service club.

In addition to his regular service as a member of the Kingston Police Department, Officer Levy was credited with saving the life of fellow-officer John Crespino in an incident on the Strand some time ago.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy acclaimed the selection of Officer Meyer Levy, saying that a police officer who risks his life in the line of duty to save a fellow officer well deserves public credit for his act.

Chairman Englander revealed that the Kingston Kiwanis Club will celebrate "Police Day" Thursday, Nov. 12, when Officer Meyer Levy will be the guest of honor at the noon luncheon. Other officers of the local police department will be guests of the Kiwanians, and Officer Levy will be presented with a plaque denoting his selection as "Policeman of The Year."

Program details will be arranged by the Public Affairs Committee with program chairman Howard St. John in charge of the event.

Particulars Coming To Bareika, Firms

Special Prosecutor Bernard Tompkins has been directed by the Appellate Division, State Supreme Court, to furnish a bill of particulars to four defendants named in a "conspiracy" indictment handed up last August 14 by the special grand jury investigating kickbacks in Ulster County.

The court granted the motions of Harry Bareika of 279 Lucas Avenue, Kingston; Harry Bareika, Inc.; Walter Motor Truck Company of Ridgewood, Queens, and Rand-MacMurray, Inc., of Huntington Station, L. I., for a bill of particulars only two days after that matter was argued before the court last Monday.

18 Items Granted

John E. Egan, counsel for Harry Bareika and Harry Bareika, Inc., moved before the Appellate Division last Monday for a bill of particulars and his motion was opposed by Joseph Soviero, a member of the legal staff of the special prosecutor's office. Egan asked to be supplied with 18 separate items, all of which have been granted by the court. The Appellate Division also granted defense counsel 10 days to make further motions pertaining to dismissal of the indictment after they are supplied with the bill of particulars.

John T. DeGraff of Albany appeared for the Walter Truck Company and Charles H. Stall of Hickville, L. I., appeared for Rand MacMurray, Inc., of Huntington Station, L. I. They argued for the bill of particulars in behalf of their clients.

At the time the indictment was returned on August 14 counsel for defendants indicated they would move for a bill of particulars.

Leonard Reisman, an assistant attorney general on the staff of Special Prosecutor Tompkins, this morning said a copy of the

Stop Fight Is Appeal Of DeSapio

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—Tammany leader Carmine DeSapio is appealing to New York State Democrats to stop fighting among themselves and forge "the strongest political organization ever known in the history of our country."

DeSapio, center of a bitter controversy in the party, joined other Democratic leaders at a fund-raising dinner here Wednesday night in pleas for unity.

Close Ranks, They Say

Former Gov. Harriman, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt and Vice Chairman Eleanor Clark French of the State Committee called on the Democrats to close ranks.

The internal feud stems from a campaign to oust DeSapio from party leadership on the ground he has become a symbol of political "bossism."

Earlier Wednesday, the Democratic State Committee crushed an insurgent group that asked the committee to limit the power of Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast and other leaders.

Prendergast has supported DeSapio in the leadership fight.

The Democratic dispute flared after the party committee joined

Asks State to Have Fire Marshal for More Control

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A fire-safety specialist recommended today that New York State create a state fire marshal to end what he termed confusion and division of responsibility.

Percy Bugbee, general manager of the National Fire Protection Assn., said the state was failing to control fire hazards effectively because the state's set-up for fire safety was a "patchwork of overlapping agencies and conflicting responsibilities."

The result of this, he said, is that New Yorkers "are not getting all the protection they should have and could have."

Bugbee spoke at the Governor's Fire Protection Conference, sponsored by the State Division of Safety and the International Assn. of Fire Chiefs. Fire chiefs, fire officials and firemen were attending.

Gov. Rockefeller was among the speakers on the program.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the conference Bugbee urged creation of a state fire marshal as a central point of coordination, regulation and enforcement.

"The situation in New York State, fire-wise, is, to say the least, complicated," Bugbee said.

He said the Labor Department had jurisdiction over fire-safety standards for business and industry and certain places of public assembly, the Health Department over hospitals, and the commissioner of welfare over certain other institutions. He said the Safety Division was charged with de-

President Prepares For Talks

Meets With Aides On Camp Topics

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower begins final preparations today for his weekend talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

He is reported hopeful but by no means certain that some way can be found to improve U.S.-Soviet relations and promote serious negotiations on disarmament. He has counted on Khrushchev's observations during a tour of the country to increase that possibility.

No New Ideas Result

Khrushchev returns to Washington late today after a one-day visit to Pittsburgh. In an eight-day tour around the country he has spoken thousands of words, but Washington officials have found among them no really new ideas of solving East-West problems or any hint of softening in Soviet foreign policy.

Eisenhower arranged to meet with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other State Department and White House officials for a detailed survey of issues which Khrushchev and the President have already agreed to discuss.

These issues range from Berlin in Europe to the small strife-torn country of Laos in Southeast Asia. They include disarmament, negotiations to end nuclear weapons testing, the future of Germany, Soviet-American trade, and travel exchanges between the United States and Russia.

Begin Late Friday

Eisenhower and Khrushchev discussed the subjects briefly and generally 10 days ago, a few hours after the Soviet Premier arrived in this country. Since then the topics have been put in order by Herter and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in preparation for two days of Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks starting late Friday at Camp David, Md.

Kaye Wants Light On Washington at Lucas Ave. Point

Installation of a traffic light to be removed from the Broadway-St. James Street intersection is proposed for Lucas and Washington Avenues, Mayor Edwin F. Radel revealed today.

Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye, he noted, has proposed use of the newer type light at the busy uptown intersection, and the mayor said he would direct a study of the proposal.

The mayor said that after conferring with Police Chief Robert F. Murphy he directed Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, to remove the light from Broadway and St. James Street.

Educating Son Costs Family 51 PC More Than 6 Years Ago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — This year Dad is paying up to 51 per cent more than he did six years ago to educate his children in a private college in New York State.

The State Education Department made that report Wednesday based on a special study of higher education in the state.

For the current school year, basic expenses in private colleges and universities in the state will range between $1,207 and $2,830 per student. This represents rises of from 8 to 51 per cent over the costs in 1953-54.

What Survey Covers

Expenses in the public institutions rose only 5 per cent.

The department's expense estimates cover tuition, other standard fees and room and board for a student in an undergraduate liberal arts program.

Omitted are expenses for travel, laundry, books and supplies, clothing, recreation and personal items.

The median percentage increase for the private institutions is 28 per cent. That means that expenses at half of the schools rose more than 28 per cent during the six-year period and rose less than 28 per cent at the other half.

Forty - four private institutions were studied.

Expenses for students living on any of New York State's public campuses rose from $1,055 in 1953 to $1,105 this year, a 5 per cent rise.

Figures Quoted

Sample expenses at schools where the rise was more than 20 per cent:

Colgate $2,150, a 51 per cent rise; Hamilton College $2,050, up 37 per cent; New York University $2,150, up 44 per cent, and Vassar College $2,535, a 23 per cent rise.

Cornell and Columbia show considerably different increases for male and female students. At Cornell, the cost for men is $2,130, for women $2,190. However, the rise over the six years is 50 per cent for men and only 28 per cent for women.

At Columbia, male students face a cost of $2,074, women $1,990. This is a boost of 35 per cent for men, 22 per cent for women.

Tuition at some of the private schools has climbed as high as 64 per cent and range between

Steel Leader Wounded Self, Hospital Claims

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP)—Walter F. Munford, president of the strikebound U.S. Steel Co., apparently wounded himself with a knife while in a state of fatigue and nervous exhaustion, a hospital administrator reported today.

Gerald A. Ouellette, administrator of the Cape Cod Hospital, to which Munford was brought in serious condition Wednesday, made the announcement.

Munford, 59, was admitted with a then unexplained knife wound in his abdomen.

Condition Satisfactory

The hospital reported Munford had a good night and described his condition today as "satisfactory."

Ouellette issued this statement: "Mr. Munford has been under the care of his personal physician for the past few weeks suffering from fatigue and nervous exhaustion. The day before yesterday Dr. O'Connor (Robert B.) and Harvey N. Jordon, executive vice president of U.S. Steel, visited Mr. and Mrs. Munford as overnight guests.

"During yesterday morning while getting ready to go with Mr. Munford to Boston to arrange for further treatment he apparently wounded himself with a knife.

"He was immediately taken to the Cape Cod Hospital where the wound was repaired. His condition post-operatively was satisfactory. Today his progress continues to be good."

Undisclosed for Time

As the district attorney in charge of Barnstable County began an investigation, it was learned that the injury to the steel executive remained undisclosed until nine hours after Munford's admission to the hospital.

Woman Says Ring Lost in Chute as She Dropped Mail

U. S. Postal inspectors are reported to be investigating the alleged loss of a diamond ring by a New York City woman Sunday, Sept. 13, in a mail chute at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Loss of the ring, valued at $1,000 by its owner, was reported to the Kingston Police Department Wednesday morning by Irene Long of 321 West 78th Street, New York.

Mrs. Long told police that she was mailing a letter when her hand got caught in the slot, the ring pulling loose from her little finger as she withdrew her hand. She said that she had scratched her finger in extricating her hand from the slot.

She described the ring as a pear-shaped diamond surrounded by sapphires. One of the small sapphire stones was missing, she said.

Mrs. Long first notified Kings-Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk who checked the mail box himself with postal and hotel employes present. The ring was not in the mailbox.

Indication Given in Iowa Visit

Tours Steel City, Returns to Capital

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev toured Pittsburgh today in an open car under bright sunshine.

The chief focus of interest was a company which makes the big machines used by steel mills. In the Soviet Premier's party is Nikolai A. Tikhonov, a big wheel in the Soviet steel industry.

Last Stop of Tour

This industrial center is the last stop on Khrushchev's cross-country tour before he gets down to the main business of his American mission—talks with President Eisenhower on world tensions.

On one major matter—disarmament—there were reports that Khrushchev was expressing confidence that inspection controls could be worked out.

Adlai Stevenson, the 1952-56 Democratic presidential candidate, said Khrushchev told him that at Coon Rapids, Iowa Wednesday.

The Premier arrived Wednesday night after a flight from Des Moines, Iowa.

Jitters Over Security

Police had a bit of security jitters at the time, and the trip from the airport to a downtown hotel was made in a closed car.

Today, a crowd of four or five thousand lined the sidewalks as Khrushchev came out of his hotel. There was some cheering and some waving of hands by spectators. There also was some booing.

Khrushchev arrived right on schedule at Mesta Machinery Co. makers of steel mill machinery.

On his way, he passed the huge Jones & Laughlin sheet strip mill, silent and closed by the nation-wide steel strike.

The visit to the Mesta plant and an address to a civic luncheon were the main events on the Premier's schedule here.

At 2:25 p.m. his big plane is scheduled to leave for Washington and serious business: Momentous talks with President Eisenhower on what can be done to ease East-West tensions.

Appears Tired

Khrushchev looked tired Wednesday night as he flew in from a rollicking day in the corn country.

What he saw probably didn't pep him up any.

This city has many who are of Hungarian, Polish or Slovak origin. Even before Khrushchev hit town demonstrators were waving signs that carried such legends as:

"Butcher of Budapest," "Killer of American pilots" and "Remember 1776 with George Washington and 1956 Hungary with Nikita Khrushchev."

Security officials, always jittery wherever Khrushchev goes, became downright jumpy. Plans to have Khrushchev ride in an open car were abandoned, and the route he was to follow was changed.

17-Mile Route Lined

Police lined the 17 miles in from the airport. And they stood with their backs to the road, their eyes peeled for potential trouble on any of the hills.

Khrushchev was taken up the narrow, winding road to the top of Mt. Washington for a sweeping view of Pittsburgh. From there he could see the skyscrapers—many of them especially lit up for the occasion — of downtown Pittsburgh, an imposing sight.

A crowd of 5,000 or more was

Republicans in Ulster Township Will Honor Pratt Boice at Oct. 7 Dinner

Pratt Boice, dairyman, banker and one of the Town of Ulster's leading citizens, who has served the Township for 20 years as a Republican committeeman, will be honored at a testimonial dinner at Wiltwyck Country Club on the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 7. The dinner will be sponsored by the Town of Ulster Republican Club and the Town of Ulster Republican committeemen. Friends of Mr. Boice, and they are legion, are invited to attend the dinner. Tickets may be procured from any member of the Town of Ulster Republican Club or any of the town committeemen.

Pratt Boice, born in West Shokan, son of Lewis and Sarah Boice, has been a farmer at heart throughout his life although he has devoted a great portion of it to public service and in the banking field. He spent his early life on his father's farm after attending West Shokan public school. While in his 'teens, because of his father's ill health, he took over operation of his father's farm. In addition to managing the farm he also took over the Standard Oil tank wagon distribution of oil in that area, a business which he continued for some seven years in addition to the management of the farm.

At the age of 21, he secured a position with the J. H. Ladew Tanneries in Newark, N. J., a business which was then thriving in this locality. He remained in that position for a year but due to the condition of his father's health and his desire to be back in his native county, he severed his connection with the Ladew tanneries in New Jersey and he and his brother purchased the farm at Lake Katrine where Boice Brothers Dairy continues in operation.

At first the business of farming was on a small scale, but strict attention to business and by his determination to improve

Phoenicia IOOF Dinner Success; Trustee Elected

Reports of the recent roast beef supper indicated a glowing success for members of Phoenicia Lodge, 154, IOOF, during Tuesday's meeting at the lodge hall in Phoenicia.

Officers and committee members, who supervised the dinner, expressed their appreciation to all who attended and to members of the Rebekahs who assisted.

Indications are that another outstanding event will highlight next year's annual dinner.

During Tuesday's session Jack Fernandez was elected trustee for two years.

Phoenicia Lodge 154 will meet again next Tuesday night.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mrs. Housewife, have you ever wondered what on earth to buy for Sunday dinner?

Then you can appreciate the selection problem facing the men who must decide what meat types and cuts to feature each week. Take this week. They're pushing just about every cut there is.

Such old standbys as frying chickens and chuck roast are slightly more numerous than other offerings. Leg of lamb and bacon get fair play. But otherwise meat bargains offer variety with a capital V.

Like beef? You can get top round steak, top sirloin roast, rib roast, round roast, hamburgers and chipped, swiss or cube steak as well as the previously mentioned chuck. Those who prefer pork can find loin roast, smoked picnics and butts, hams, shoulder roasts, leg roasts and sausage in addition to bacon.

Getting away from the regular items you'll find rock cornish hens, liver, corned beef, smoked tongue and franks. Seafood fanciers can pick from crab meat, smelts, shrimp, fish cakes and fish stocks.

Pork chops are 2 to 10 cents a pound cheaper in a number of places, reflecting larger supplies of pork. Other prices mostly are mixed, although eggs are up 2 to 8 cents a dozen all over.

Apples have seldom, if ever, been a better bargain. Pears also are an outstanding fruit buy, along with Concord and tokay grapes.

Outstanding vegetable buys are potatoes, small to medium onions, sweet potatoes, collards, kale, topped carrots, beets and butternut or acorn squash.

Tavern Licenses Suspended by SLA

New York State Liquor Authority today announced disciplinary action against 21 licensees, including one Kingston establishment, for violations of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law.

Polygamy Probe Is to Continue, Foreman Asserts

FARMINGTON, Utah (AP)—An investigation into polygamy in northern Utah's Davis County is running into sympathetic resistance but the grand jury foreman says the jury will continue efforts to stamp out the practice.

One indictment has been issued charging Gerard Van Hoff with unlawful cohabitation, but Hoff has left the area.

Jury Foreman Henri J. Frederiksen says many polygamists—he did not specify the number—have left the county since the jury began its investigation of plural marriges several weeks ago.

He says many persons who sympathize either with the idea of polygamy or the families involved have become irritated when subpoenaed to appear before the jury, or they have become what he termed "prone to defy the law."

Some false testimony has been given the jury, he said.

Frederiksen says the jury will issue reports on what he calls the "unhealthy conditions" the jury has found among polygamous families.

He says he doubts if the sympathizers really understand all of the facets of the practice of polygamy.

Polygamy once had the sanction of the majority church in Utah, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. But the church outlawed it before Utah became a state in 1896.

Missing $142,000 Was Stolen, Is Federal Opinion

LIBERTY, N. Y. (AP)—Federal officials believe $142,000 in cash that disappeared en route from a local post office to Hoboken, N. J., was stolen.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York offered a $10,000 reward Wednesday night for information leading to the recovery of the money.

The Sullivan County National Bank is not worried about the bills it mailed several weeks ago. It has a receipt for the cash.

FHA Boosts Interest

WASHINGTON (AP)—A boost in the top interest rate on Federal Housing Administration loans has followed President Eisenhower's signing of a third-try housing bill.

The FHA announced the increase from 5¼ to 5¾ per cent in the permissible interest rate on home mortgages it insures. It means higher monthly payments for home purchasers, but is expected to make it easier for them to obtain the loans.

Nixon, Despite Lead, Plans Six-State Tour

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon does not intend to let any political grass grow under his feet despite an apparently long lead in the 1960 GOP presidential nomination contest.

After taking time out to participate in the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks this weekend, Nixon will strike out on a series of speaking engagements that will carry him into New Hampshire, Illinois, Indiana, Texas, Oregon and Washington.

To Dedicate Dam

In New Hampshire, where he will dedicate the Hopkinton-Everett Dam near Concord on Oct. 3, Nixon will get a chance to assess personally the political depth of a move to draft New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the nomination the vice president wants.

State Sen. Robert A. English, a former State Department service officer, announced he is setting up "Draft Rockefeller" headquarters in Concord today.

Rockefeller has put off any decision on whether he will be a candidate or will permit his name to be entered in New Hampshire's presidential primary next March. He is expected to be encouraged to do so on a scheduled visit to Dartmouth College, his alma mater, this weekend.

Nixon dedicated the Dalles Dam on the borderline of Oregon and Washington Oct. 10, and will have a chance then to survey political sentiment in those northwestern states.

Oregon Entry Certain

Nixon's name is certain to be entered in Oregon's primary next May. If Rockefeller is running—and perhaps even if he isn't—his name also will go on the primary ballot. It could be put there without his consent.

Rockefeller has let down the bars he previously imposed on out-of-New York speeches and has scheduled two talks next month. He addresses the Inland Press Assn. in Chicago Oct. 20, after a speech the preceding day to the National Public Health Assn. in Atlantic City, N. J.

Nixon, who already has made appearances in Chicago several times this year, is going back again Oct. 5 to dedicate a new University of Chicago Law School building.

No Halleck Endorsement

The following day, the vice president goes to Rochester, Ind., where local Republicans are staging a "Charley Halleck" day in honor of the Republican House leader.

Although Halleck has said he wouldn't be coy about giving a "yes" answer if he were asked to run for vice president, Nixon's friends insist his participation in the affair doesn't represent any endorsement of Halleck's ambitions.

Nixon also is considering a visit to the Texas State Fair at Dallas Oct. 9. The vice president would like to get better acquainted in a state President Eisenhower carried twice.

Would Repeal Law

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, says he wants unionists to work for repeal of the new Landrum-Griffin labor law.

He told a news conference on Wednesday that the law is a "disgrace to Congress" and would penalize both union and nonunion workers.

Hoffa came to Atlanta for conferences with trustees of the union's pension fund. A local motel got a $1,800,000 loan from the fund.

Rider of Motor Scooter Reported In Good Condition

Henry A. Senft Jr., 49 of 25 Roosevelt Avenue, who was injured Wednesday afternoon when his motor scooter struck the rear of a passenger car on Boice Lane, was reported in good condition today at Benedictine Hospital.

Trooper H. S. Rhodes of the Kingston state police reported that Senft received a severe laceration of the left leg and numerous abrasions. He was taken to the hospital by Fatum Ambulance.

Rhodes said Senft, an IBM employe, was riding in a line of IBM traffic leaving the local plant when a car ahead of him stopped suddenly and he smashed into the rear of the vehicle.

The car was operated by Henry Stewart Jr., 41, of New Paltz.

There was little damage to the passenger car. Time of the mishap was 4:40 p. m.

Blast Kills Patient

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — A woman patient died on the operating table at Bradford Hospital Wednesday after absorbing most of the force of an anesthetic explosion inside her mouth.

Hospital administrator Robert Cole said a volatile anesthetic exploded in its container while Doris Wolford was undergoing surgery.

Cole said the force of the blast traveled through a tube and into Mrs. Wolford's mouth.

He theorized that a spark from one of the motors in the room may have ignited the anesthetic.

KHRUSHCHEV AND WAR

Some small comfort can be drawn from President Eisenhower's evaluation of Premier Khrushchev's attitude toward war. For although men have often asserted their hatred of war even as they took up the sword, it also is true that the reasons for shrinking from such a holocaust are more terribly compelling than ever before. If those reasons have deeply penetrated the wily brain that runs the Kremlin, there is hope for the world in that.

After his early talks with Khrushchev, President Eisenhower said he believed that the Soviet premier "very fully" shares this country's horror of another great war. The President may, of course, be mistaken in his assessment of Khrushchev's feelings. Mr. Eisenhower has had long experience in judging men, however. There is a good chance that in this judgment he is not far from the truth.

The real proof of Khrushchev's antipathy for war must emerge, obviously, from what he says and does. If he resumes his former attitude of belligerent menace, if he continues to hold out against any diplomatic yielding that might lead to an easing of tensions, then it will be seen that his horror of war is overshadowed by his desire for power and domination.

No intelligent person can regard global nuclear war as a useful political weapon. Khrushchev, for all his faults, appears to be intelligent. There is just a chance that this may forestall the ultimate horror.

The fair campaign practices committee sees a danger of "smear" practices in the 1960 campaign. Well, why should the 1960 campaign be unique?

One radio-TV columnist rates the past summer programs as the worst in television history. Luckily, the history is a short one.

ADJOURNMENT RAT RACE

As could easily have been predicted, Congress once again indulged in its panting, undignified rush toward adjournment. Once again, this led to hasty and ill-considered treatment of some proposed legislation. Once again, the lobbyists were busy at the 11th hour trying to put over what they knew they had little chance of putting over earlier in the session.

This happens every year. Yet the annual adjournment rush is a needless monkey wrench in the legislative machinery. It would be done away with if Congress were to accept the plain fact that it ought to remain in session the year around.

This is not impracticable. The present system is hallowed by custom, but there is nothing sacred about this custom. If adequate provision were made for trips home at stated times, during which there would be no roll-call votes, the damaging adjournment rat race could be avoided. It is something worth considering.

An economist tells us actual value of a dollar depends on who spends it. Yes, and on what he buys with it.

Psychologists trying to find out why people daydream don't offer ways to make the dreams come true.

BETTER ARGUMENTS

Spyros Skouras, who heads a giant motion picture corporation, led with his chin in a battle of wits with Premier Khrushchev. The occasion was a luncheon for Khrushchev and his party in the movie capital.

The movie executive's intention was the laudable one extolling the virtues of the American system of free enterprise. He chose to do so by describing his rise from poor immigrant boy to president of a far-flung corporation.

The sincerity of Skouras cannot be questioned, but it is clear that he underestimated his adversary. For Khrushchev promptly got to his feet and did the obvious thing—he told of his own rise from sheepherd boy to head of the Soviet Union.

There was more of the same, with Skouras making a point and Khrushchev retorting in kind. Perhaps Skouras won the argument. Certainly there can be no doubt that the American system offers vastly greater opportunity for individual advancement and fulfillment.

But in the end, what came of this impromptu exchange? Khrushchev is not going to be moved by Horatio Alger stories. Far better arguments than that can be offered in illustration and support of our free society.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

HARD TO UNDERSTAND

Nikita Khrushchev's disarmament plan did not require as much study as first seemed necessary in relationship to the importance of the man. As one listened to it and then read and re-read it and analyzed it, the question arose: "When did I hear those words before?"

Actually, there is nothing new in Khrushchev's disarmament proposal. Time after time, Soviet representatives at the United Nations have proposed many of the salient features of the Khrushchev plan. What might be regarded as new is some of the language, but the ideas are old and so broadly stated as to be impossible of implementation. At most, he is opposed to sin.

For instance, the removal of all foreign troops from all countries, which really means the removal of American troops from West Germany, would make it very easy for Russia via East Germany to gobble up West Germany. Soviet Russia via East Germany, Poland, and Czechoslovakia is only a few miles from West Germany, whereas if the United States removed its troops, we would have an ocean between us and West Germany. It is a little too cute to make such a proposal. All one needs is a map to see how false it is. But Khrushchev adds to that the elimination of all armed forces of all countries, however he makes no provision for inspection and control.

Then he proposes an atom-free zone in Central Europe—an old idea which in effect neutralizes Germany, the Scandinavian countries, and probably Austria and Italy, thus establishing an indefensible mid-European area in which Soviet Russia could operate by means not available to other countries.

Then he suggested the total abolition of armies, navies and air forces, leaving only the police and militia, which are to exist on a proportional basis. As Soviet Russia is the largest country geographically and in population, it would have the largest militia and police force which could be quickly translated into a military force.

The Versailles Treaty deprived Germany of its military forces after World War I. It permitted Germany to have a militia and a police force. That militia and police force expanded until it became the vast army that Hitler used to fight a six-year war on multiple fronts. The Naval Treaty of Washington (1922) limited Japan's navy, but when World War II came, Japan had, in the Marshall Islands, an ample navy and air force, enough to strike the blow at Pearl Harbor.

It is difficult to understand why Khrushchev's advisers permitted him to make such a speech as he did at the United Nations. Although it was a carefully written and carefully delivered address, it offered no new ideas, no promise of an acceptable program. It rather indicated that he is a man who has not been informed by his associates and subordinates concerning the countries with which he has to deal.

It is obvious from his words and tone that he really believes that the United States wants to continue the arms race so that munitions-makers will earn profits. Who are the munitions-makers? They are several thousand American companies, generally owned by the public, which manufacture all sorts of tools and components which are assembled and made into implements of war. These same companies also, for the most part, manufacture machinery for industry or items of consumers' goods and usually avoid becoming dependent upon orders for military supplies, because military supervision and accounting disturb sound business practices. Most of these companies do well in their non-military lines.

The "Merchants of Death" theory, a Communist agitational apparatus of the 1930's, was ridiculous then and is even more ridiculous now, after all the lessons that have been learned during World War I and II. The processes of renegotiation are enough to keep any American businessman from converting his plant into war work if he can help it.

Khrushchev, in nearly every speech, displays an extraordinary lack of information. It would be interesting to know who his American experts are. If they are Russians, there is some excuse for their errors, although in the United States there are many experts on matters Russian whose data and judgment can be relied upon. If his experts are American Communists, he is getting partisan nonsense such as is published in "The Worker." Whoever his experts may be, they have shown little understanding of American psychology and American purposes.

Acne, Pimples Are Still Big Worry to Teen-Agers

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Acne or adolescent pimples is definitely a physical disorder but it carries with it profound psychological effects. If acne were not a blot on the appearance at a time when personal sensitivity is at its peak it could perhaps be considered only a minor affliction. It appears, however, at the same time that most youngsters begin to be interested in the opposite sex and in their personal appearance so that it not infrequently results in unfortunate effects on the personality.

What causes acne is uncertain. Infection plays a part, but so does diet and it has been noted frequently that the condition is likely to become worse when the adolescent victim of acne takes too many sweets, or miscellaneous foods or drinks, outside of regular meals.

Treatment of the physical condition is of great importance. This should be taken under the direction of a skilled and sympathetic physician.

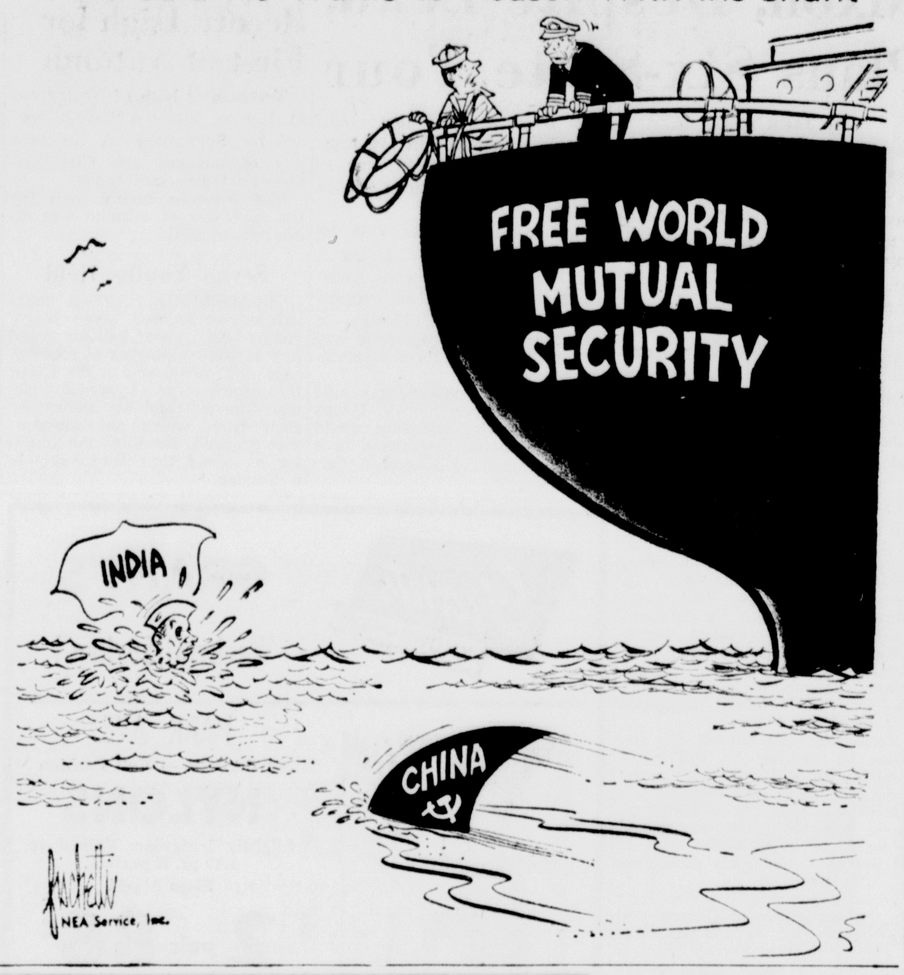
Patients are usually advised to refrain from certain common foods, especially chocolate, nuts, seafoods, iodized salt and sharp cheeses. Also, it is generally wise to avoid sweets and fats to excess.

It may be particularly encouraging to some who have very bad acne and scarring that the new methods, particularly the use of a wire brush as a planing method, can often be used if necessary to reduce the scars if they should occur. Such treatments are not often needed but do offer hope of future improvement in the skin to one who has been unfortunate enough to develop scarring.

The psychological aspects of acne cannot be neglected. It is certainly a mistake for family or friends to comment every morning on the state of a youngster's skin since this can only increase the self-consciousness.

However, a youngster with this condition should take a firm grip on himself, get the best treatment and advice possible, and make a real effort to lead a normal life without paying too much attention to the disfigurement of the pimples which is ordinarily only temporary.

"He Said He Wants to Reason With the Shark"



Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Russia's Number One Visiting Fireman, Nikita Khrushchev, once said of America: "We will beat you at your own game. We will outproduce you on consumer goods."

Just wait till he does. If the Man from Moscow thinks he has troubles now, wait till his collective farms start producing more wheat, corn, cotton, poultry, eggs, dairy products, pork and tobacco than Russians can consume.

Wait till farm surpluses start piling up on the communists the way they are in capitalistic America. That's when Nikita Khrushchev—if he's alive—will make the sad discovery that outproducing America can be a curse.

One advance that a dictatorial society like Russia might have in such a situation is that when production of any crops got too high, the collectives would be ordered to cut down their planting and put in others, or none at all.

The United States has experimented with acerage restrictions this way, but hasn't been too successful at it. The trouble has been that, as acreage has been cut down, farmers have spread on more fertlizer, put the crop rows closer together or planted new varieties that yield more to the acre. These practices again put supply above demand.

U. S. WHEAT PRODUCTION averaged 15 bushels to the acre in 1938. Last year it was 27 bushels to the acre. Yet the allowable wheat acreage is still set at 55 million, the same as it was in 1938. No wonder there's a surplus.

The U. S. corn yield used to be 25 to 30 bushels to the acre. Last year the national average was over 51 bushels to the acre. In India, Illinois and Iowa it was over 60.

Acreage allotments were taken off corn last year. That resulted in a 4.3-billion-bushel crop this year, as compared to three billion last year. Two billion bushels used to be enough to meet normal demand and then some.

The U. S. cotton yield, which used to average 300 pounds to the acre, was 450 pounds—nearly a bale an acre last year. On California irrigated land it was two bales.

Let Russia beat that production if it can.

TOTAL U. S. FARM PRODUCTION is running seven to ten per cent over demand. Some farm economists therefore say that if 15 to 20 per cent of America's farm acreage could be taken out of production—say 60 million acres out of the 340 million acres under cultivation—supply and demand might be balanced.

The Eisenhower administration made an approach to this solution through the soil bank program in 1956. But the acreage reserve part of it was thrown out last year after a three-year trial. And complaints are now being heard against the soil bank conservation reserve.

One specific objection is that it permits whole farms to be taken out of production. A farmer can now get a maximum of $25 an acre for not farming it. The national average on the 23 million acres signed up in the conservation reserve program last year was $13.50 an acre.

IF A FARMER TAKES 100 ACRES of good crop land out of production and puts it in grass, timber or other cover, he can collect $1,350 a year for not farming. If he puts 200 acres in conservation reserve, he gets $2,700.

In a number of such cases, the farmers have retired and gone to Florida or California to take life easy. They stop patronizing local stores. They stop buying farm machinery, seed, fertilizer and other supplies.

That hurts the local merchants. They complain to their congressman. So now there's pressure building up in Congress to kill off the soil bank completely.

These, Mr. Chairman of the Council of Ministers of the U.S.S.R., are some of the problems of outproducing America that you may not have figured on.

Peril to Free Press Seen In Equal-Time Legislation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Congress did something at its last session which should have evoked the sharpest protests from all liberals, but most of them were strangely silent. A law was passed telling the radio and television stations of the country that they need not grant "equal time" to all political candidates when one happened to be mentioned in the normal course of news broadcasts, but Congress reaffirmed its right to dictate how these stations shall handle political speeches.

Whenever a station provides time for a regular speech to one candidate, it still must do the same for all others. The news judgment of the editor of the station's programs may be that the speech by a rival candidate isn't interesting to hear in preference to other news and that the same time could be better used otherwise for the benefit of the audience. But the provisions of the Communications Act which were not repealed by Congress in its last session still say, in effect, that the First Amendment to the Constitution guaranteeing a free press, shall be disregarded.

Unfortunately, the Supreme Court of the United States in a decision in 1943 ruled that Congress can abridge the freedom of the press wherever a radio or television license issued by the government is involved. In other words, the grant of a government privilege takes away the right of the recipient to be on a par with other branches of the press.

Asks New Amendment

Someday the Supreme Court may rule that, because of their acceptance of second-class mail privileges, Congress is given the right to tell newspapers how they shall allocate their news space on speeches in political campaigns. To avoid this, the only safe course is to secure the adoption of a new amendment which shall specifically say that the acceptance of a license or grant of any kind from the Federal government shall not require of the recipient the surrender of any rights of the press already guaranteed by the Constitution.

It seems odd that there hasn't been a nationwide movement to protect freedom of the press from such encroachments as radio and television have experienced. It is good, of course, that Congress did take the forward step of saying that radio and television stations need not hereafter give time to every political candidate when one happens to mentioned in or appears on a news broadcast. This relief will be helpful, but the very fact that Congress backtracked only slightly on its original rule serves to emphasize what a far-reaching power has been exercised by Congress as a result of one decision of the Supreme Court of the United States sixteen years ago.

Have Same Aim

Radio and television are a part of the free press of the nation. They merely present news through a different mechanical medium that through the printed word. The principle involved in all media is just the same—the dissemination of news.

The argument that, by granting a license to a company for television or radio broadcasting, the government has a right to control or regulate the news content of a medium of expression is repugnant to the First Amendment, which says Congress "shall make no law abridging the freedom of the press."

But, since the Supreme Court has ruled that the First Amendment goes by the boards the moment a government privilege is given—such as is covered by the grant of a Federal license to operate a station—there would seem to be no way out of the difficulty except by a constitutional amendment.

Even the present system of awarding licenses is contrary to the spirit of American institutions. Applicants for licenses must satisfy a Federal Communications Commission as to their acceptability. The qualifications necessary are vaguely stated in the law. This affords an opportunity for considerable discretion, if not favoritism. When government contracts are let in other fields, the custom is to give it to the lowest financial bidder, provided the company has integrity and experience.

It would be far better if the award of license for radio and television broadcasting were made to the highest bidder. This would mean revenue to the government, too, since nothing substantial is paid for such license now. As it is, the fact that the government bestows a favor on an applicant—and may withdraw or evoke the license any time after a specified period — indicates that the government maintains a tight hold on the applicant. This is inconsistent with the free-enterprise system.

May Expect Favors

What we have today really is a form of statism wherein the government could, under some unscrupulous officials, insist that political favor be granted to an incumbent administration lest the licenses be revoked.

Nobody has ever objected to the right of the government to award the limited number of licenses for radio and television on the basis of "public interest, convenience and necessity" where the problem is one of allocation based on population or other stastical factors or where it is necessary to avoid mechanical colisions of wave lengths. But the theory that any medium of expression has a right to ignore government dictation has gone by the boards. Where radio and television are concerned, the government, including Congress, can and sometimes does exert political influence despite the First Amendment.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

HELSINKI, Finland — Heavily bled in a series of wars beginning in 1914, blasted by bombs and artillery and robbed by the Kremlin in a brutal indemnity imposed at gun-point in the 1947 Treaty, the tough, indomitable but strangely affectionate family-nation of Finland is a marvelous honor to the human race. The few Finns have produced many of the greatest athletes ever known in the swirl of competition which began with the modern revival of the ancient Greek Olympic games in Athens in 1908. There are only four million of them living on a small wooded patch of the world's surface in the cold political shadow from the Iron Curtain, constantly menaced by a British power insensitive of decency or human compassion.

Yet they are, as I awkardly put it, a family-nation, markedly kind one to another, possibly because they are strangers to all the world on account of the mystery of a language with 16 cases in which even proper names change form according to their status in a given sentence. An American authority stationed here has been studying Finnish for three years and yet hesitates to order a sandwich except by pointing on the menu. Their ordeal in wars hardly explains their consideration and mutuality. The French were bled out in the first war and spent the next 40 years clawing and stabbing one another. The British went through hell, but they snarl hatefully in stupid class rivalries and suffer nasty vermin to vilify a genteel young woman who might turn her back on all of them and sell herself to Hollywood or the American scavenger magazines if she were not a real queen.

The Finns are sailors, fishermen, woodsmen and factory hands and yet I have the word of authorities with no motive to deceive me that even farmers in relative isolation read Dante and Shakespeare. I take it that these are exceptional. However, it appears that these farmers of Finland actually do read classical literature. On the other hand, in Moscow lately, our American fair offered as examples of our literature idolatrous biographies of Roosevelt, gibberish poems by unqualified interpreters of our spirit and, unaccountably, the life story of Ben Hecht. All this was displayed at arm's length, much of it in plastic boxes, and I never could learn what effects it possibly could have on any Russian's intelligence. But a a member of our Embassy in Helsinki came upon a Finnish importer of tobacco in the little town of Jacobstad, on the Gulf of Bothnia, who had translated three of J. P. Marquard's books for his own pleasure and published them in Finnish with Marquard's permission.

The dictum that Hemingway and Faulkner are authoritatively the great American authors does not run in Finland. One of the Helsinki department stores has a book department covering two large floors. One is almost entirely devoted to American books in English, most of them recent, and I presented General Wedemeyer's version of the late war to a new friend who had only heard inklings of the rising blasphemy at home which derogates the Hyde Park myth.

The Finnish press, dominated but by no means monopolized, by Eljas Erkko, with 18 publications of great variety, is very considerate of us. Whereas most other European publications take the New York version of "Little Rock" as truth, Mr. Erkko's Helsingen Sonamat, with the greatest circulation in the country, insists that the problem is very complex, that laws cannot make people love one another, that great progress has been made and, finally, that we deserve our reputation for "fair play."

This is considerate in view of our sudden abandonment of Finland when she took advantage of Hitler's attack on Soviet Russia to make an independent attack of her own, hoping to recapture the lands which Moscow had wrested from her in the winter of 1939. Finland was not Hitler's ally but nevertheless, in Washington, "brave little Finland" was repudiated.

Erkko is an alumnus of public school 135, at 49th Street and Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn, which he entered in 1905 when his father was exiled by the czar for implication in the revolution following the defeat by Japan. His magazines include beautiful color-press along the line of our fashion and beautiful-kitchen periodicals, all produced from pulp to the newsstands right here in Finland with the exception of the colored inks which come from Israel in trade for heavy paper bags for cement. He regards war stories as important reminders and runs a graphic monthly devoted to reminiscent articles and fiction by men who were there.

Thousands and thousands of substantial apartments, brick or concrete, with two or three bedrooms in consideration of the abundance of children, are rising now in addition to many rows up to five stories built since 1948. They stretch out and out into rocky, wooded areas beyond the city and most of them are being bought on very long bank-loans.

Paavo Nurmi, the great runner, who has a men's clothing store in the city, builds and sells apartments on his own account. There is no squalor cowering behind these apartments such as the Russians try to conceal in the rotting, ancient log-houses without plumbing and with cisterns for water hidden back of their jerry-built, ten-story hives in Moscow.

These apartments are homes, not cells.

Figs With Haircuts

CHICAGO (AP) — Customers Joe and Jerry Del Giudice get a fig with each haircut. The barbering brothers planted a fig tree in the basement of their shop. The tree grew so well a hole was cut in the floor of the shop. The tree's leaves now run to the roof of the one-story shop. The brothers' fig tree produces about two bushels of fruit a year. During the fig bearing season each customer gets a fig.

Red Boss Is Man of Contradictions

Premier's Optimism May Hold Best Hope of West in Future Dealings

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev — after one of the most amazing performances in history—is nearing the end of his American expedition. But what kind of a man has he shown himself to be?

He's many things — some of which may prove good, some not — but above all he's a man of contradictions. Yet, he is the man with whom President Eisenhower must sit down with this weekend in a search for peace for the world.

Says God With Him

He talks disarmament but, while he invites us to the moon, he won't let inspectors inside the Soviet Union to make disarmament possible. He says "I am not afraid of the devil" but there's no sign he ever dared oppose mass-murderer Stalin.

He's an atheist who talks constantly of a deity, offers to swear on the Bible, cites the Commandment against killing, says the Soviets are "brothers before Christ" and for good measure throws in: "God is on our side."

He's a braggart but he is also an optimist and this more than anything else in his character — a belief going back to young manhood that the world can be made wonderful — may hold out the best hope of dealing with him reasonably.

He's as unpredictable as a character out of Dostoievsky and his gigantic display of energy is almost like a deliberate effort to identify himself as one of these "men of might," the great folk heroes in his nation's early epic songs.

Intelligent, Shrewd

He's intelligent, he's shrewd, but he's neither an intellectual nor a Marxian theorist. He is a rock-ribbed Communist, but he is also a pragmatist. This part of his nature also may hold hope for the future.

Since he is for a practical way of doing things — and trying to do them better — he may, deliberately or not, divert communism a little more to the right and make doing business with him a little more possible.

He is one of the most powerful men in the world, as everyone knows, but he is forever trying to remind the world of it. He doesn't need publicity but he never stops seeking it.

He's a premier but he is also as much of a showman as a barker at a circus. He says the United States "wants to obtain world domination" but he also says the United States doesn't want to change the social order in the Soviet Union.

MORE

He preaches that communism is what the world needs and that its achievements will "bury" capitalism, but he insists the Soviet Union doesn't want to change the social order in America.

He says the Soviet Union doesn't exploit any country and maintains the right of self-determination by all peoples; but he won't permit the satellites free elections to choose between communism and some other form of government.

Sensitive to Insult

He has wit but doesn't appreciate it when wit is turned against him. He invites questions but when one embarrasses him he denounces the questioner. He is sensitive to insult but quick to give it.

For example: When he said the Soviet Union does not exploit East German workers and was asked why three million of them have fled to the West, his answer which was no answer was this: "You are hopelessly sick with capitalist fever."

He says he wants peace but keeps brandishing his rockets like a blackjack. It was he who created a crisis which may yet turn critical by demanding the Allies get their troops out of West Berlin.

He preaches freedom but when asked why the Soviet Union crushed the Hungarians' revolution against their Communist masters, he refused to admit it was a revolution. He calls it a hooligan plot.

All across America he dwelt on the progress, wonders and beauties of communism but, when finally challenged to show a single instance where people flocked into a Communist country, he said "drink your beer."

Tries to Sound Superior

It has been his government's constant Communist line that Americans are good but their leaders war-mongers. Now he beams on all America and says he sees no difference between the people and their government.

He bellowed against being prevented from seeing Disneyland on short notice, even though his own security guards were against it and so feared assassination attempts they checked his every meal.

He talks of freedom in the Soviet Union but says as head of the government he won't let his people hear American broadcasts because, he says, he wants to protect them from propaganda.

He tries hard to sound superior but in doing so gives an impression of deep-rooted inferiority.

DeSapio Likely To Return as Boss of Tammany

NEW YOR K (AP) — Attacks against Tammany Leader Carmine DeSapio by former Sen. Herbert Lehman and Rep. Clayton Powell (D-NY) came Wednesday on the eve of DeSapio's almost-certain re-election to the Tammany job.

District leaders who form the executive committee of Manhattan's Democratic County Committee are meeting this afternoon to vote for the leadership of Tammany—the job where party power rests in the city.

Meanwhile, Lehman and Powell were among those expressing publicly their ire over the procedure by which DeSapio was re-elected chairman of the larger county committee Tuesday night.

Lehman, who with Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt and former Air Force Secretary Thomas Finletter heads an insurgent group against DeSapio, charged that DeSapio's organization used "steamroller" tactics Tuesday night.

He said moves of his group for rules changes were overriden by the DeSapio forces without "the opportunity for a roll-call and with a minimum of debate."

Powell, Negro congressman from Harlem, spoke out in anger over DeSapio's refusal to push a Negro for the chairmanship of the county committee—a figurehead job.

Powell said that unless insurgent groups get concessions, the city will go Republican in next year's presidential race and the 1961 mayoralty election.

"If what happened last night continues in the Democratic Party," Powell said, "there will be a Republican sweep in the city. . . . Then the Democratic Party will cut its throat and go down the drain."

The payment will be required pending trial of her separate maintenance suit and his comfor divorce.

Finds House Door Open And Man in His Bed

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—"Someone has been tampering with my door," thought Morris Wilson when he found his home unlocked.

Someone had been ransacking the house, too, he discovered, when he entered.

Someone also had been sleeping in his bed. And there he was. Still snoring.

Police charged Andrew Harris with house breaking.

Lucky at Last

BALTIMORE (AP) — Capt. and Mrs. Reese Layton scoured the city and its environs for canned turnip greens because the fresh variety was out of season. None could be found. Then, on a trip through the South, they found a case of turnip greens in a South Carolina country store and snapped up the whole case. They were canned, of course, in Baltimore.

184 Outstanding Masons Named For 33rd Degree

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—U. S. Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller and 183 other outstanding Masons of the Northeast have been nominated for the 33rd degree, highest award of Scottish Rite Freemasonry.

Most of the 1960 nominations were released Wednesday night amid the awarding of the 33rd degree to 174 members of this year's class, which included Undersecretary of the Treasury Fred C. Scribner Jr., of Portland, Me.

Held in Music Hall

The ceremony took place in Kleinhans Music Hall, Buffalo's largest concert hall, which was converted into a closely-guarded Masonic lodge room. The event closed the 147th annual meeting of the 15-state Northeast Masonic Jurisdiction.

Besides Scribner, outstanding members of the 1959 call included Franklin Falnders of North Weare, N. H., chairman of the New Hampshire State Liquor Commission; Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Protestant clergymen, authors and editors from New York City; Dr. Allen W. Cowley of Camp Hill, Pa., president of the Pennsylvania Medical Society, and Federal District Judge Robert Allen Grant of South Bend, Ind.

The degree is conferred annually for "outstanding contribution to Freemasonry or for dedicated service to mankind reflecting credit to the fraternity."

Nominations for next year's class, which will receive the award next year in Boston, were listed by states.

Commerce Secretary Mueller highlights a list of prominent men which includes Charles H. Patterson of Detroit, vice president of Ford Motor Co.; John F. Wolfram of Lansing, Mich., general manager of the Oldsmobile division of General Motors Corp.; Russell Humbert of Greencastle, Ind., president of Baldwin-Wallace College.

Massachusetts, Maine, Pennsylvania and Delaware nominees have not yet been announced.

The 1959 class originally numbered 175. Charles I. Lederer, 77, a Pittsfield, Mass., jeweler, was found dead in his hotel room Tuesday.

Predict Earth Man to Walk on Moon in 5 Years

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Man will be walking on the moon within five years, an American rocketry pioneer believes. He doubts, however, that moon landings will have any military significance in our lifetime.

Lovell Lawrence, past president of the American Rocket Society, said Wednesday night man-to-the-moon shots will have little more than scientific value.

Lawrence, one of the founders of Reaction Motors Inc., believed to be the first commercial enterprise devoted exclusively to rocket development, spoke informally before addressing the rocket society's local chapter. He is chief engineer for weapons systems at Chrysler Corp. in Detroit.

As a Housewife, How Do You Rate in This Test?

When your husband comes home from work—

- Do you look attractive enough to greet a guest, instead of wearing rumpled shorts or jeans with your hair done up in pin curls?
- Is the dinner ready to go on the table, instead of thawing out on the sink?
- Do you refrain from greeting him with a long weary account of what a hectic day you've had with the washer stopping dead in the middle of a load, Junior's getting the worst end of a neighborhood fight, and so on?
- Do you give him a real kiss when he steps through the door, instead of a careless greeting from another rooom?
- If you're planning on an evening out or expecting guests in, have you checked with your husband beforehand to be sure he is agreeable?
- If he looks tired out, do you hand him the evening paper and let him relax a few minutes before dinner, instead of finding a household chore that has to be done immediately?
- If he comes in bursting with good news or burned up about something that happend at the office, do you sit down and listen to what he has to say giving him your full attention, instead of trying to listen while you do three other things at once?
- Even though getting dinner on the table and getting everyone in to eat it is a hectic time for you, do you manage to keep your voice sounding cheerful and keep a pleasant look on your face?
- If your husband says he has brought home work to do or has a meeting to attend, do you take the announcement matter-of-factly, instead of complaining that he never seems to have any time for you?

If you can answer "Yes" to all these questions — your husband should look forward to coming home in the evening as the nicest part of the day.

Model Theater

NEW YORK (AP)—Allan A. Buckhantz is producing "Happy Town" for Broadway after extra-elaborate prepartion. Buckhantz, at work on the idea 2½ years, built in his office a half-inch scale model of the stage on which he visualized the musical. It was equipped with a lightboard to demonstrate theatrical effects, had a real fly gallery, with ropes, pulleys and cleats, and automatically revolving turntables. "Better than electric trains," commented the producer. "But the theatre is the most extravagant plaything in the world."

Trump Break Can Be Beaten

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Take a look at the South hand only. You open the bidding with one diamond and expect great things. Instead, by the time the bid comes back to you the opponents have bid a game in spades.

Needless to say, you refuse to be shut out and go to five diamonds. West doubles and leads the queen of spades. How do you play the hand?

You start by ruffing the opening spade lead and note that East is marked with the ace and king of spades. In that case the other high cards should be with West and finesses aren't going to work for you.

If you play carefully you can still make the hand. You start by playing the king of clubs. West will win and probably lead another spade. You trump that, cash the ace of trumps, lead a club to dummy's jack, ruff the last spade and play the queen of clubs.

If clubs break you can discard a heart on the fourth club. They don't break but West can't beat you. If he trumps he is end played and must either give you a ruff and discard or lead up to your heart tenace. If he doesn't trump you simply lead a trump to his king and he is still end-played.

Along Capitol Corridors

BY ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A new look of efficiency and harmony is quietly being designed for the 1960 Legislature, where confusion, delay and Republican family fights figured prominently this year.

Gov. Rockefeller and the Republican majority leaders are drafting the new approach. Planning and order are the main components.

Would Avoid Clashes

The governor and the leaders have agreed on a budget procedure designed to eliminate clashes over major appropriations. The system of pre-filing bills to avoid session-time log jams is being speeded and the Legislature's research staff is being strengthened.

Steps are being taken to cut down on the "perennials" — bills that are filed every year, clutter up calendars and then die in committee.

Rockefeller program bills are due early in the session which will begin in January. There was sharp criticism from lawmakers this year when a major administration bill — tax relief for railroads — was not introduced until the closing hours of the session.

There are unique pressures for the changes being made.

Repetition Would Hurt

Rockefeller plans to announce early next year whether he will bid for the Republican nomination for president. If he runs, he will want to show the nation he can command enthusiastic support from his legislative branch.

A repetition of the 1959 budget revolt, with fellow Republicans blasting his fiscal policies, would be a poor background for a declaration of candidacy.

Joseph F. Carlino, new speaker of the Assembly, which was the storm center of 1959, wants no revolts or breakdowns to mar his debut.

In the new budget procedure, the governor and legislative leaders will agree on economies before the executive budget is submitted.

The leaders expect to be able to assure rank-and-file lawmakers there is no further room for cuts in several areas.

Last year, an insurgent group served an ultimatum that forced the leaders to trim the governor's budget and cut back his plans for income-tax increases.

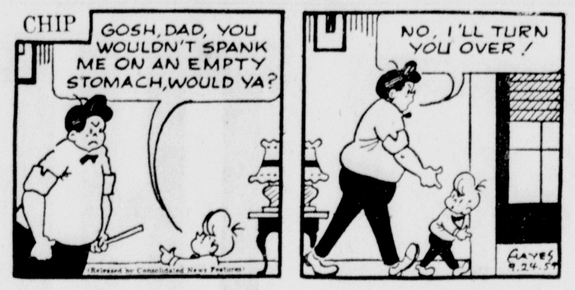
Like Dewey's Technique

Rockefeller, worried about the charges he was a high-spending, high-tax governor, eventually appealed directly to the public for support.

The plan to clear the Republican legislative program in advance, through solid agreement of the governor and party leaders of both houses, has a familiar sound. It was the technique used with great success by another recent Republican governor—Thomas E. Dewey.

Dewey and Republican leaders, especially the late Oswald D. Heck, speaker of the Assembly, frequently disagreed. When this happened there were long and sometimes bitter meetings with the governor, usually on Sunday evenings at the Executive Mansion.

But, with a few exceptions, the feuding was private. Republican battles seldom reached the front pages. Differences were resolved in private conference. Then the GOP closed ranks and presented a united front to the Democrats, and the public.



Outta My Way

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Robert Catron, 54, avoided a charge of drunken driving, but he was fined $5 and costs for public intoxication after police caught him careening down the middle of a street in his wheelchair.

WALLKILL NEWS

Wallkill Zoning Needs Explained

WALLKILL — Judge Earle Houghtaling of Walden stressed the importance of zoning in a talk before members of the Wallkill Chamber of Commerce at the first Fall meeting Monday night.

The speaker stated that early planning committees were of the best type, since any establishments in areas not recommended for zoning could not be removed by law, if, after zoning ordinances were adopted, they were not suited to that particular zoning.

He urged that any township or village which was not zoned at this time should consider such a step for future generations' general health and welfare.

Donald Adams, project engineer of the Armco Steel Company, and the Rev. Fred Jansen, Protestant chaplain at Wallkill State Prison, were introduced to the members and welcomed by the president, Walter G. Smith.

William Stuart of the membership committee stressed the need for members to promptly pay dues, and he expressed hope all members would comply with his request for dues before January. Stuart also reported for the RIDC. As a Wallkill representative he has been elected vice president of the group for the current year.

Exhibited at the meeting was the official brochure published and set up by the State Department for the villages of Montgomery, Maybrook, Walden, Pine Bush and Wallkill, as an aid to further development of the industrial possibilities in the area. The book will be retained at the office of the Chamber president and will be available to anyone in the area desiring to use it.

Mrs. Lois Morris noted the blood bank held at the Reformed Church hall was short of its quota and all donors who were unable to be present will be notified. They should report to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh on Oct. 14 from 6 to 8 p. m. Blood cards are being distributed to members and those who receive them are urged to contribute a pint of blood.

The next regular meeting will be held in the High School cafeteria on Oct. 19. Walter G. Smith will be in charge of the program being arranged by Don Adams for Armco Steel Company.

Union Talk Erupts Over Racial Issue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Organized labor has decided to maintain a soft, persuasive approach to curbing racial discrimination within unions instead of adopting a hard, mandatory ban.

That is how a torrid debate wound up Wednesday night at concluding sessions of the AFL-CIO convention in a showdown over union racial discrimination practices.

Against Punitive Action

The dispute pitted George Meany, AFL-CIO president against A. Philip Randolph, Negro Sleeping Car Porter's Union chief and an AFL-CIO vice president.

Randolph demanded elimination of racially segregated union locals. Meany said he deplored discrimination as much as anyone but opposed punitive action against locals that have democratically chosen to remain segregated for decades, some since the end of the Civil War.

Finally, with Meany shouting from the rostrum, and Randolph from a floor microphone, Meany exploded:

"That's your policy. Well it's not my policy. I'm for the democratic rights of Negro members to maintain a union if they want to.

"Who the hell appointed you as the guardian of all the Negro members in America?"

Randolph tried to interrupt but Meany continued talking.

Right to Stay: Meany

Finally Randolph broke in saying, "I would say this, and we don't have to become emotional about it: I don't believe members of a union have the right to maintain a Jim Crow local."

Meany answered, "Well, I believe that a group of members of a Negro union that want to stay the way they are, have a right to stay that way."

"Well, what about a group of members in a union that want to have a Communist dominated union?" asked Randolph.

"They can't have it and belong to this federation," said Meany.

"Well they ought not to have it as a Jim Crow local either," replied Randolph.

Asks State . . .

veloping firemen's training programs and with emergency mobilization of fire departments.

Bugbee said many states had adopted a model law that vested a fire marshal with powers to enforce all fire-safety laws and to issue regulations in areas not specifically covered by laws.

Gov. Rockefeller told the conference that the economic toll taken by fire "adds significantly to the costs of doing business in New York State, costs which could well mean the difference between an industry locating or expanding in New York State or going elsewhere."

In a prepared speech, Rockefeller said insured fire losses for last year approached 100 million dollars.

He pointed out that fire losses were reflected in insurance premiums and that insurance rates were raised recently in the state.

"Fire insurance rates are, in the long run, reflections of our fire losses, and their relationship to business costs and the climate for economic growth is obvious," the governor said.

Promises Cooperation

Upon recommendation of Engineer TenHagen, he said, "Maynard A. Bebee, director of the Bureau of Highway Planning, will make a survey of the situation." This, he said, would be done as a public service, and findings will be forwarded to the mayor.

"You may be assured," he told the mayor, "of my complete cooperation on any effort on your part to help solve this preplexing problem."

Macy Papers Hope Rocky Will Stay In Albany Post

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)— The eight newspapers of the Macy Westchester newspaper group said editorially today that Gov. Rockefeller should stay in Albany instead of seeking the presidency in 1960.

The group was among the first to endorse Rockefeller for the Republican gubernatorial nomination last year.

The editorial said the people of the state have a right to expect Rockefeller to stay on the job until it is done. It said the governor, at the age of 51, has plenty of time to seek the presidency after completing the gubernatorial job.

The governor was not immediately available for comment. He has said repeatedly that he is not a candidate for the presidency but has left the door open for possible reconsideration after he presents his next legislative program.

Air Force Seeks Aviation Cadets

Sgt. Richard Lambert, local Air Force recruiter, said today that the Air Force is testing for aviation cadets.

Any man who is single, 19 to 26½ years old, posseses a high school diploma, and passes the mental and physical examinations, will, in most cases leave for pre-flight training within 30 days. Pre-flight training is held at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex.

The U. S. Air Force, through its aviation cadet program, trains qualified young men to beccome pilots or navigators. The aviation cadet program has become the Air Force's traditional source of leadership by providing commissioned flying officcers for active duty.

A qualified pilot applicant enters a 20-month program with commissioning after 15 months. The training is designed to develop his leadership, self control and ability to master a flying skill. A navigator applicant enters a 12-month program in basic electronics and astronavigation.

Upon completion of the prescribed courses, an aviation cadet is graduated with the commission of a second lieutenant, and with an aeronautical rating of pilot or navigator.

Anyone interested in the program can contact Sgt. Lambert at 286 Fair stret.

Celler Advises U.S. Control of Harmful Weapons

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) today urged federal control of the sale of dangerous weapons to "put them out of the reach of juvenile delinquents."

Celler was a witness at the second and final session of the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency.

Celler said he planned to sponsor a bill to bar interstate shipment of weapons in the next congressional session.

"I assure you that we will have a bill reported out to the Judiciary Committee at the next session of Congress," he told Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo), who presided.

Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz suggested a one-year residence law for relief eligibility to discourage migrants from coming here and living under "conditions which have been breeding more poverty and more crime."

May Quiz Him Later

Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis said his aides hope to question the 59-year-old executive some time today.

Dinis refused to answer newsmen's questions about Munford's injury other than it was inflicted with a kitchen knife.

Authorities impounded a five-inch knife they found in the lavish Munford summer home in Chatham.

Dinis said he ordered an investigation to determine if Munford's wound was "self-inflicted or otherwise."

Dr. Robert B. O'Connor, U.S. Steel Corp. medical director, called for an ambulance at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday. A moment later, Dr. Robert E. Harned of Chatham placed a similar call from another place in Chatham.

Under Treatment

Fire Lt. Wendell Deer and fireman Albert Loring, who responded in the ambulance, said they found Munford lying on a couch in a first-floor den with Mrs. Munford and Dr. Harned attending him.

Both Drs. O'Connor and Harned said they have been treating Munford for an undisclosed ailment for two weeks.

First word that Munford had been stabbed came nine hours after he was admitted to the hospital.

About 5 p.m. Dr. O'Connor issued a statement that Munford had undergone abdominal surgery but giving no hint he had been stabbed.

Some two hours later Dinis disclosed Munford had suffered a knife wound.

Khrushchev Uses Old Script of '56 Tour in Britain

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The amazing Nikita Khrushchev—both front man and backroom boy of the Soviet Union — is following the same script he used three years ago when he last took a good look at the Western world.

The great difference between the routine in the United States and the 10-day grand tour of Britain in 1956 is that he left straight man Nikolai Bulganin somewhere behind and in oblivion.

Bulganian Was Stiff

Bulganin was the stiff, formal premier but Khrushchev was then the boss.

This correspondent toured with Khrushchev in the Soviet Union, throughout the British tour and the similarities with his American tour are astonishing.

Khrushchev told the British in Birmingham that cruisers were so far out of date he'd be glad to give them a few. In California three days ago he said the Soviet Union was scrapping cruisers.

In the House of Commons Khrushchev got into a nasty argument with Aneurin Bevan, George Brown and other British Labor Party leaders. In San Francisco he tangled with Walter Reuther and American labor leaders.

He told British Laborites he got on better with Conservatives and he told Americans he liked their business leaders, not some of their labor leaders.

He put on a pout in 1956 and did it again this week — threatening each time to pack up and go home if people didn't stop pressing him.

Security Light

He complained bitterly about the tight security screens in Britain and America. He is guarded as closely and in much the same manner in Moscow.

He complained he could not get in amongst the British and American people, But, he seldom gets in amongst the Soviets either.

Particulars . . .

Appellate Court's decision had been received and the office was "working on the bill" which it was expected would be supplied to defense counsel "perhaps today" or within a day or two.

All Plead Innocent

In the indictment the defendants are charged with conspiracy to defraud the Town of Woodstock in sale of a snow removal truck in January of this year. All of the defendants have entered pleas of innocent. The indictment charges there was conspiracy to circumvent state law on competitive bidding which requires advertisement of bids on all purchases of $1,000 or more. The town of Woodstock purchased a truck for $19,855.

It was alleged in the August 14 indictment, which was the eleventh indictment returned by the special grand jury since it began over a year ago, that the bidding on the snow removal truck for the Town of Woodstock was rigged, each of the defendants conspiring to permit Bareika to enter the low bid of $19,855. Rand-MacMurray, Inc., bid $20,625 and Walter Motor Truck Company bid $20,500.

Motions Argued Monday

At the time the indictment was returned Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg allowed counsel for defendant until August 31 to move in relation to the indictment. That time was later extended and the motion for a bill of particulars was argued before the Appellate Division term. Decision was reserved at that time.

Attorney Egan, counsel for Bareika, in his moving papers for the bill of particulars named 18 seperate items all of which were allowed by the court. Among the items asked in the bill was the name of the officers of each of the firms alleged to have been involved in the conspiracy; that they be supplied with the statute which requires submission of bids and also what section of the law, if any, which makes a violation of Section 103 of the General Municipal Law a crime, and several others.

Her appointment is an interim one to the post which has been resigned by Mrs. Donald Allen of New Paltz who has moved from the area.

President Eisenhower's signature today on a national housing bill makes federal financial assistance available for an urban renewal project.

Says Tactics Switched

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A Laotian government spokesman said today pro-Communist rebels have switched from military tactics to psychological warfare.

Acting Foreign Minister Sisouk Na Champassak said the change became evident after arrival here of the U.N. fact-finding subcommittee nine days ago.

Prior to that the rebels concentrated on military action in northern Sam Neua and Phong Saly provinces, he said, but now they are conducting propaganda activity throughout the country to bolster their contention that rebellion exists everywhere in Laos.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Anna F. Jordan, who passed away one year ago today, September 24, 1958.

What we would give to see your smile,
And sit with you and talk awhile
The blow was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with you so kind and dear,
Day and night we think of you
The things you used to say and do,
We wonder why you had to die
Without a chance to say goodbye.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

There was mention in this column of Old Sturbridge Village, the regional museum of rural New England life in Massachusetts. One of my readers brought me their little newspaper put out in old type called "The Massachusetts Spy." In it is a map of the buildings and museums, its parking area and other information in picture and description form. The village is open from 9:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. daily and Sundays. It is said that more than a million visitors have been to the village since it opened in 1946 and they have taken in more than two million dollars as it is $2 admission. All the money goes toward the upkeep of the exhibits. That would be real nice right in our own Kingston Point Park approachable by car, boat and seaplane.

To those who desire to enlighten themselves and their children about New England farming and craftsmenship of the early 1800's this quiet village would be interesting to see some weekend. For instance they have "The Meetinghouse of the Society of Friends" of Bolton, Mass., which was built in 1796, a simple house of the New England Quakers. There is an exhibit of a herb garden as grown in earlier days and preparation of these herbs for culinary uses takes place in their barn. The oldest house in the village is the Fenno House, erected in 1704 at Canton, Mass. It has whitewashed walls, red-painted woodwork and simple paneling, such as one prehaps would want in one's own home.

They moved the Stephen Fitch House from Willimantic, Conn. It is an unpainted, half-gambrel-roof house dating from 1737. Candledipping and candlemolding are demonstrated in its summer kitchen. They have pillory and stocks on display also. Those who are interested in old clocks would be excited about the clock museum. They have an extensive collection of early New England clocks including, grandfather, grandmother, banyo, lighthouse, pillar and scrool items, some even with wooden movements.

They moved the Miner Grant's General Store from Stafford, Conn. to this village. They have a cookie bakery in the basement and sell many reproductions of woodenware and such to visitors. They also brought in the Gen. Salem Towne House from Charlton, Mass. This 1796 country residence shows how a man of comfortable circumstances lived in those days, with his gardens, furnishings and other buildings, reflecting the finest country craftsmanship of New England. No doubt it was interesting to watch those old houses being carefully moved from elsewhere to Sturbridge Village. It is difficult to believe that there are people who put such effort into an idea and are able to carry it out and make it so successful for many years to come. Incidentally what did happen to our own stockade which was to be built in the uptown section of Kingston in 1959 for the year of history. I must ask someone in the know.

Expect Populations To Reach 230 Million

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) —The United States will have a population in 1975 of 210 to 230 million people, and a child born then in this country may have a life expectancy of 80 years.

This was foreseen Wednesday night in a talk by Dr. John J. Hanlon, Philadelphia's director of public health services, to the North Carolina Academy of Preventive Medicine.

Full Jury Seated For White's Trial In Orange County

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—A full jury was seated Wednesday in the first-degree murder trial of industrialist Malcolm White. It took two weeks to fill the panel.

One alternate, a woman, also was selected. Selection of the second alternate began today.

No court session is scheduled for Friday. The opening statements by prosecution and defense are expected Monday.

White, 49, claims self-defense in the shooting last Nov. 13 of Alfred F. Dugan, 52, ex-convict head of a small, independent labor union. The two men quarreled after Dugan called a strike at the Chester, N. Y., Cable Co., of which White was president.

Lazy Beavers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Beavers have a reputation for working—but not at the right time. For years Wisconsin State Fair officials have had beavers on exhibit, hoping they would demonstrate their dam building techniques. But now they've been dismissed as just plain lazy. This year the fair replaced them with otters, the comedians of the woods.

Fanfare Is Cut For Return of Nikita to D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ceremony has been cut to a minimum for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's return to the nation's capital late today.

The emphasis will be not on bands and an elaborate motorcade which welcomed him 10 days ago, but on getting him and his party from the airport to the President's guest house as rapidly as possible through Washington's heavy late-afternoon traffic.

Under Secretary of State Robert Murphy was assigned as the ranking American official to greet the Soviet Premier at Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland. President Eisenhower and other top officials met him on his first arrival Sept. 15.

Protests Low Planes

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP) —Mayor George Vergara acted today to eliminate low flying planes over this Westchester County town.

Vergara sent a letter of protest to the National Air Transport Coordinating Committee, the Air Force, Navy, Civil Aeronautics Board and to major airlines.

The letter urged taking of steps "to abate the noise and nuisance created by these planes."

New Rochelle and nearby municipalities lie on a direct line to metropolitan airports.

Iowa Is Unlikely To Forget Visit Of K in Hurry

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa's corn belt farmers turned back to their normal placid lives today after a day with the human dynamo who bosses world communism: Nikita Khrushchev.

Few of those who participated in that lively day were likely to forget it for a long time.

The Soviet Premier took off Wednesday night, tired but still happy at his Iowa reception, for Pittsburgh and another round of strenuous touring.

Physician Unworried

His personal physician, A. M. Markov, seemed unworried by his charge's health feeling that "when a man smiles, he is in good health." Apparently, said the doctor, American food agrees with the Premier.

The fatigue which had been apparent in Khrushchev's features seemed to drop away as he pursued his favorite subjects—corn, communism and international politics.

He had been through quite a day. On farms near Coon Rapids, he tramped through cornfields. He trudged from farm building to farm building, learning about U.S. ideas on livestock feeding, a topic in which he is passionately interested.

He opined publicly that while God has helped the Iowa farmer become the success he is today,

Argues With Host

"He is helping us, too," because "we are developing quicker, and therefore God is on our side." Khrushchev is an avowed atheist whose official policy is to discourage and stamp out religion in Communist nations, but he often calls rhetorically upon the Deity.

He argued amiably with his host, farmer Roswell Garst, about corn growing techniques, and even criticized corn prized by Garst, allowing that if he didn't, friend Garst might "have his nose too high in the air."

He was pursued throughout the day by hordes of newsmen and photographers over the Iowa landscape, and jokingly tried to shoo them away by threatening to "turn the bulls loose" on them.

He packed away an enormous farm-style Iowa lunch, under a huge brown tent hard by the swimming pool of the Garst farmstead.

After saluting Iowa's farmers as "a very wise, intelligent people," Khrushchev was whisked off by car to Ames and Iowa State University, where he got a look at American techniques in hog-raising.

Girls Puzzle Him

Khrushchev turned courtly, and pronounced them "very nice girls." But he was at a loss to understand why they were so assiduously pursuing those studies.

"We don't have such schools," remarked the Soviet boss. "Our mothers have to teach that."

He wished the girls success, but added that "the main thing is to find a good husband."

Premier Hints

jammed around the Carlton House, awaiting Khrushchev, even though he didn't arrive until 12:03 a.m.

Here were more signs.

One said: "God Bless America, God free Ukraine."

Another: "Red Atrocities in Ukraine defy description."

But some signs were favorable. "A salute to peace," one read. And another proclaimed: "We salute the peace efforts of President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev."

Mr. K. stood for a moment facing the crowd. He waved his hat, and then went into the hotel and, presumably, to bed.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's technical recovery from weeks of decline continued early this afternoon as turnover became heavier.

Pivotal issues advanced from fractions to more than 2 points. Much wider gains were made by some of the "science" stocks and by higher-priced issues.

Motors again were briskly traded and steels were active. Reports of possible federal intervention spurred hope of an end to the steel strike.

American Motors showed a net gain of about a point. Chrysler rose more than a point. General Motors and Studebaker-Packard were about a point higher.

Gains of about 2 were scored by Gulf Oil, Schering, U.S. Steel, Union Carbide, International Paper, Westinghouse Electric and Celanese.

The recovery was a broad one. The depressed rail section joined it with a string of moderate advances by the leading carriers. Southern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio were up about a point apiece.

Stop Fight . . .

the Republican State Committee in nominating Judge Charles S. Desmond of the Court of Appeals for election as chief judge of the court.

The joint nomination virtually assures election of Desmond, a Buffalo Democrat, in November. The court post will be the only statewide office on the ballot in the election.

Traditional Practice

Desmond received the endorsement because he is senior judge after the present chief judge, Albert Conway. Conway has reached the mandatory retirement age of 70. The two major parties traditionally endorse the senior judge for advancement, regardless of his political ties.

The two state committees met separately in Albany.

The Republican meeting was relatively quiet. The committee created the office of comptroller to help its treasurer raise and handle party funds.

William Pfeiffer of Old Westbury, L. I., a former Republican state chairman, reportedly will get the new committee post. He now heads the party's fund-raising activities outside New York City.

Attendance Less

At the Democrats' annual Upstate Dinner, Prendergast told the audience of 1,000—less than half the 1958 turnout—that the first ground rule for enrolled Democrats was recognition that unity of organization was as important as unity of purpose.

Harriman, Mrs. French and Levitt referred to a need for unity but did not elaborate.

DeSapio received a lukewarm reception at the dinner. About one-third of the audience gave him a standing ovation. Others applauded or sat quietly in their seats.

The leaders of the anti-DeSapio movement passed up invitations to attend the dinner. They are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Herbert H. Lehman, former U. S. senator and New York governor, and Thomas K. Finletter, former secretary of the U. S. Air Force.

Hits Administration

The principal speaker at the dinner was Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago who criticized the national administration for what he said was opposition to vital programs to benefit the public.

At the Democratic committee meeting, the insurgents sought to force Prendergast to appoint an executive committee to share his authority.

The insurgents also proposed a study of committee rules to determine whether changes were needed. Prendergast announced before consideration of that resolution, however, that the committee would make its own study.

The resolution was sponsored by four committee members from New York City. They were John J. B. Shea, Mrs. Barbara Palmore, Mrs. Henrietta Tree and John Heilbruner. Shea said that "in the view of many in my district, the state committee is just a joke."

Prendergast appointed Monroe Goldwater, chairman of the party law committee, to head the committee to revise the rules.

Woman Believed Accomplice of Dead Bank Bandit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Who was with the odd little criminal who made a weird effort Wednesday to pull off a bank robbery in gang style?

Apparently the accomplice was a woman, but her "mousey blond" hair looked suspiciously like a wig. She was clad in a blue gabberdine suit and black shoes. She carried a hat box and a red bag which contained a small automatic pistol. When last seen, she was driving a rented car toward the branch bank where the robbery was supposed to happen.

Man Also Wore Wig

The little man wore a blond wig too, over his balding head. The bullet with which he finished his career—when he saw the police were closing in with guns and tear gas—knocked the wig askew.

When they laid him on the table at the morgue, they found he measured only 5 feet 4, and there were elevator shoes on his feet. He had shaved the hair off his body. Under his gray slacks he wore red trunks.

The fingerprints told his story. He was William Ansley, 30, last known address Indianapolis, who had been convicted of burglary, assault to kill and robbery in several cities.

They found a smeary paper containing a plan of action, aimed at a Lorain Ave. branch of the Cleveland Trust Co.

Left Fake Bomb

The plan began with the woman's help. The pair got into the home of Herbert Fox, 51, manager of the Lorain Ave. branch. They tied up his wife and two daughters, who later gave the only available description of the woman. But where a gang would have left one or two men to guard the family, they left only a fake "bomb" ticking away.

The little man made Fox drive to the bank, where they were to wait until a time lock opened the vault. The woman, driving the rented car, followed them, but was not seen again.

At the bank the little man tried a trick that usually takes more than one gunman. He kept holding bank employes as hostages when they reported for work.

The police soon came. Someone reported a "disturbance," and a cruiser started a siege with a shotgun. About the same time Marilyn Fox, 18, had broken her bonds and had sent word to call police headquarters.

After a dozen shots and 10 canisters of tear gas, police released the hostages unharmed. The little man shot himself.

His companion had vanished.

that business there was gradually built up the present farm and dairy business. From a single horse-drawn rig, the milk delivery by the dairy grew until today the city and surrounding areas are served by numerous motor delivery vehicles.

Shortly after his father's death Pratt Boice married Harriet Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stone of Wittenberg, town of Woodstock. They have six children.

Serves Community

During the time he has resided in the town of Ulster, he has paid strict attention to the business of farming and dairying but has still found time in his busy life to be of service at numerous times in charitable drives for the raising of needed funds for worthy causes and to take part in governmental affairs. In both the financial campaign for reconstruction of the Kingston Hospital after a portion had been destroyed by fire and in subsequent campaigns by that hospital and the Benedictine Hospital, he took an active part.

Mr. Boice served the Town of Ulster in the board of supervisors for three terms, resigning during the latter part of his third term to become Ulster County treasurer. He served as supervisor from 1930 to 1934 and as county treasurer from 1935 to 1937. He is now president of the Ulster County Savings Institution, a director of the State of New York National Bank and is active in Grange circles, being a member of Lake Katrine Grange. He is also a member of the Ulster County Farm Bureau. Many years ago became a member of the Ulster County Herd Improvement Association, and has served as chairman of the Ulster County 4-H Club committee. He is also a member and past president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club, a member of the Fair Street Reformed Church and has served as a member of the consistory of that church, a member and past master of Lake Katrine Grange, member of Kingston Lodge 10, F&AM, of Kingston and the Jr. OUAM.

For 20 years since becoming a resident of the Town of Ulster in 1911, he has served as Republican committeeman from his district and during that time he has been elected chairman of that committee. Since his election to the presidency of the Ulster County Savings Institution in 1940, he has devoted the major portion of his time to that position and the conduct of the dairy business.

Cites Attendance Factor to Keep School Cost Down

Boys and girls of Saugerties Central Schools, grades K-8, will shortly be asked to take home for their parents a letter from the superintendent pointing out that regular attendance when the child's health permits it, is important not only for the individual child's educational welfare, but is important financially to the district.

It is hoped that parents of high school boys and girls will receive the message through the high school newspaper, the Ulsterette, and the newspapers.

A copy of the letter follows:

Dear Parents:

You can help keep school expenses in your school district under control by seeing to it that your boy or girl is present in school every day that he or she is well enough to attend.

More than half of the income of the Saugerties Central Schools comes through what is known as state aid. Less than half is collected by local taxes.

State aid is computed on the basis of average daily attendance. Every day your boy or girl is absent, this district receives approximately $2 less in state aid than it is entitled to otherwise. Expenses meanwhile, do not decline, because there has to be a desk and a book and a teacher in readiness for your boy or girl whether he or she is in attendance or not. What the district loses in state aid must be added to the amount to be raised by local taxes.

Incidentally, the boy or girl who is unnecessarily absent, loses out, too.

Evangelism Drive Tops Atonement's Activities List

The Evangelism Committee, John Bud, chairman, will be visiting approximately 70 homes to invite unchurched people to attend the pastor's membership class beginning Sunday, Oct. 4 through November 1 at 9:30 at the church.

The pastor will lecture and discuss basic Christian teachings, doctrines, worship, and practices of the Lutheran Church, membership responsibilities, and the challenge of Christian living.

The lectures are open to those interested in uniting with the church, members who desire to have better understanding of their church, and inquirers. While the sessions are for the purpose of instructing adults in the Lutheran Faith and Church, attendance does not obligate to accept membership.

Confirmation classes will meet Tuesday, March 29 from 4 to 5:45 p. m. Twenty pupils have enrolled in the first year confirmation class which will be taught by Mrs. Walter Cowen and Miss Naomi Nichlaus, High Woods, with assistance of high school age pupils.

The second year class will have nine members taught by Pastor Cowen. The group will study and memorize the Ten Commandments, The Lord's Prayer, the Sacraments of Baptism and Holy Communion and their meanings, memorize some 30 Bible verses and study a portion of the Bible each week.

The second year group will study Luther's Catechism with interpretations by Stump; study Bible lessons each week and memorize some 70 questions and answers from the Catechism pertaing to the Lutheran faith. They will also read "A Life of Luther."

Seven teachers and the pastor will be in attendance at the final session of the Hudson Conference leadership School, Sunday at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Kingston, where the group is studying, "The Church and the Home."

Stewardship Unit Of Atonement Outlines Plans

The Stewardship Committee of Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties, met recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Legg, West Camp.

Present were Mrs. Hubert Legg, chairlady; Louis Snell of Lake Katrine, chairman of the finance committee; Mrs. George Hano and Franklin Clum Jr., members of the stewardship committee and the Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor.

The group outlined plans for presenting to the congregation the needs of the local congregation and its world-wide objectives. The committee plans to present the causes which a $14,000 local budget and a $600 church-wide and world-wide objectives support and maintain.

The committee plans to hold area cottage meetings in some 20 homes of the congregation, to which members of the area will be invited. The tentative date for these cottage meetings will be Sunday, Nov. 15.

According to Mrs. Legg, the area groups will be addressed by a member of the church council or local church leader, who will present a word picture of the many worthwhile causes and programs which the contributions of the members make possible.

Prior to the meetings, with the October issue of Tidings, the monthly church paper, members will receive a tentative budget outlining and listing amounts needed for all the phases of the local and world-wide program.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The Treasury is looking for help today from the 40 million investors who are widely labeled unsophisticated.

It hopes that it is making their 42½ billion dollars worth of U. S. savings bonds attractive enough for them to hold on to, so they'll stop turning them in at an embarrassing rate.

Hopes Sales Will Gain

It even hopes—but with much more wistfulness—that they will buy more.

The Treasury needs the money, because government expenses are so high. It also wants to stop the drain on the cash it has, caused by the excess of redemption of savings bonds over sales.

That is what is behind the hike in yields on Series "E" and "H" bonds to 3¾ per cent which President Eisenhower has just approved.

For the 40 million it's in a sense just a lucky windfall. They'll get more now because the Treasury is having financial troubles.

Many have been turning in their savings bonds because they could get more for their money if they put it into other forms of investment.

Safest Risk of All

But many have gone right along buying them anyway. Some 8½ million have been doing so through payroll withholding plans.

Why do they, when the sophisticated saver has been getting higher returns by buying stocks or other kinds of bonds or real estate?

For one thing, a government bond is just about the safest risk there is. If the U. S. government should go under—the most unlikely thing in the world at the moment—what else would be worth a plugged nickle?

And for millions the payroll reduction plan is about the only way they can be sure of saving anything. Millions now look upon their take-home pay as their real pay. They are conditioned to ignore what is deducted.

And once the cash is in hand, many of us—maybe most of us—find it trickling right through the fingers, sometimes mysteriously. To save at all, the 8½ million feel the payroll saving plan is the only way.

Good Way to Save

Others go on buying, or holding, savings bonds out of habit. The yield has been unattractive for some time and Congress has been loathe to add to the government's growing bill for interest payments—now in excess of eight billion dollars a year—by authorizing a hike in rates on savings bonds. But it's a way to save—a safe nestegg for the day when a family emergency arises.

And many don't feel they're as sophisticated as other investors claim to be. They've seen others stuck with a lemon when they took a fling at buying stock, or real estate for that matter.

But too many have been cashing in their bonds and too few buying them for the Treasury to feel happy. The total of outstanding bonds has slumped for four straight months as redemptions topped sales.

The Treasury will now find out if a 3¾ per cent return is enough to reverse the trend.

Triggers Trouble

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Two brothers-in-law were wounded in the same hand, by the same gun, on the same day. Dale Shipmen suffered a bullet wound in his left hand while cleaning a .25 caliber automatic pistol. Six hours later, George Heuthington decided he would finish cleaning the gun. Another cartridge exploded, wounding Heuthington's left hand.

Calls Federal Milk Proposal Unfair One

TOWANDA, Pa. (AP)—A dairy official says a proposed federal plan to cut milk prices in the New York-New Jersey area is unfair.

Chester W. Smith, economist for the Mutual Federation of Independent Cooperatives, said Wednesday night to single out farmers in that area only could mean that the government was showing favoritism.

He said 50,000 farmers would be affected.

The government has held hearings on the plan, which would tie fluid milk prices in the area to midwestern condensery prices.

Smith spoke at a meeting sponsored by the Towanda Chamber of Commerce.

A butcher who had had an unusually good day gaily flipped his last chicken on the scales and weighed it. "That'll be $1.30, he announced to the waiting customer.

"Well, said the woman, "I think that'll be just a little too small. Don't you have anything slightly bigger?"

Thinking fast, the butcher returned the hen to the refrigerator, paused a moment, and then took it out again. "This one," he said, "will be $1.55."

The woman thought for a minute. Finally she came to a decision. "Tell you what," she declared, "I'll take them both."

Saugerties Youth Council to Plan Halloween Fete

Plans for the annual Halloween parade and dance conducted by Saugerties Youth Council will be the main topic of discussion at the group's first meeting of the fall season 7:30 this evening at Saugerties village clerk's office.

The group which supplements youth activities in the township to combat juvenile delinquency, will celebrate its fifth anniversary of organization in October.

The organization headed by Vernon Joe Benjamin includes some of the outstanding leaders of youth activities in the community.

The Halloween observance in previous years included a costume parade through the business district with judging in the municipal auditorium and the presentation of awards for the best attire. A teenage dance follows until 11 p. m.

Other town organizations are usually invited to aid in the observance by providing awards and refreshments.

$92,600 Divisions' Quota

Chest Launches Drive For Employe Donations

The first phase in the Kingston area's $137,500 Red Feather campaign is in progress today, as 32 volunteer business and industrial leaders called on the area's largest firms to solicit corporate support and arrange for employe participation in the drive.

Harold H. Heider, local manager for the New York Telephone Company, heads the business and industry division. The division's quota is $92,600.

The campaign combines the annual fund appeals of 10 separate community services and is this area's largest annual drive. Other specialized divisions will begin their solicitations on Monday, and the public participation is slated to begin in October.

For the first time this year, the Kingston Area Community Chest has developed a "Yardstick for Corporate Support" designed to help firms arrive at their "fair share" of support for the drive.

The yardstick is based upon what is already being given here in Kingston. The following procedure has been used:

Industrial and large commercial concerns are divided into their U. S. Department of Commerce Standard Industrial Classification units, so that only firms with similar problems are compared. The total firm gifts last year of all firms within each uniit is divided by the total number of employes in these firms, giving an average firm gift per employe employed.

Each company then may figure its own minimum "fair share" of last year's drive by multiplying the number of its employes by the average obtained by the computation above.

Firms which gave less than the fair share gifure last year are asked to meet this average this year plus 11 per cent additional to cover the increase in the goal. Those which gave more than the average in their category last year are asked merely to increase by the amount of the goal increase.

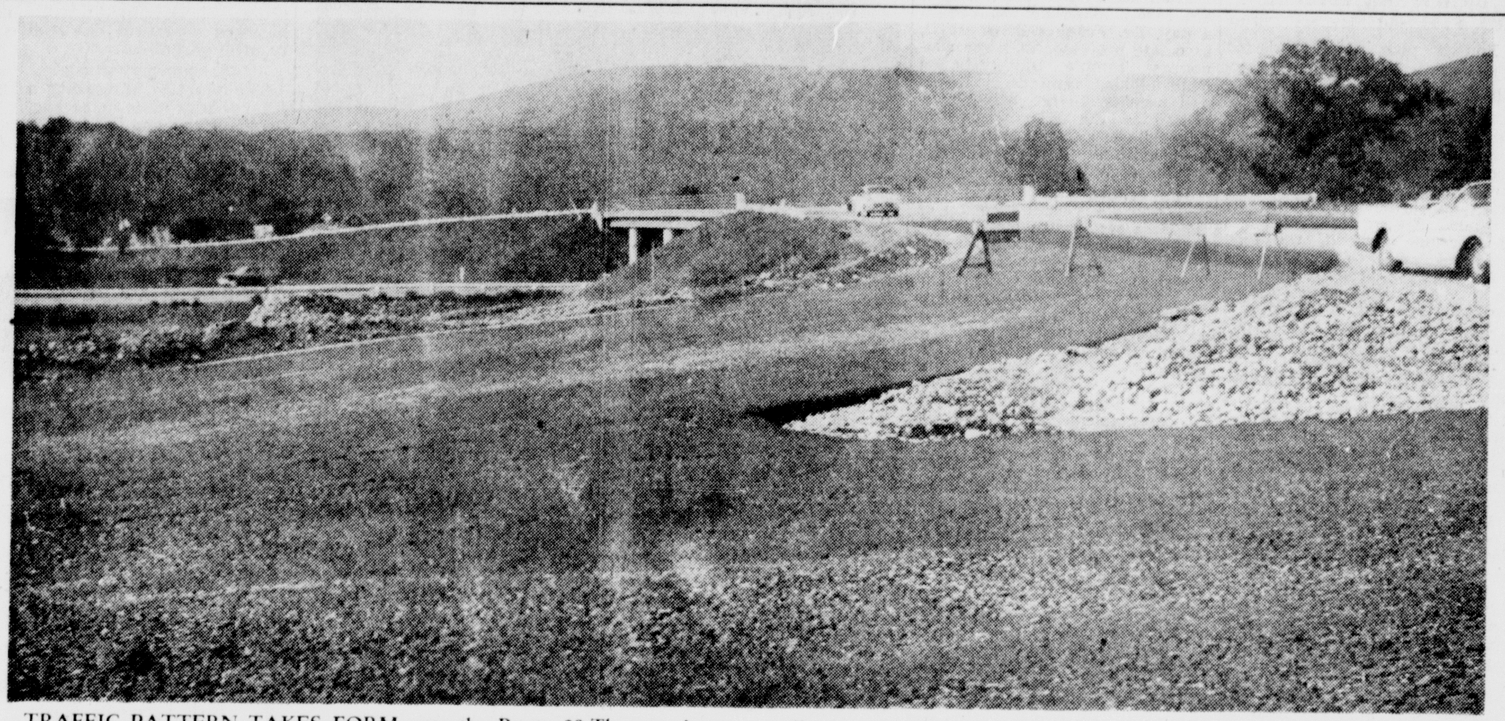
The "Yardstick" applies only to corporate gifts. Employes will also be asked to give their own personal gifts in in-plant drives conducted in most of the firms employing 10 or more persons. A "Buck-A-Month" standard has been suggested as a minimum contribution from employes earning $5,000 or less a year as necessary to finance the 10 separate agencies depending upon this one-a-year federated drive for their operating funds. Persons earning over $5,000 are asked to consider giving in proportion to their income, with one per cent of income cited as a figure that has been met or exceeded by many givers in past Red Feather drives in the Kingston area.

Volunteers Listed

Working closely with Division Chairman Heider in setting up the business and industry division solicitation are W. Henry Haltermann, resident manager for Gulf Oil Corporation, general campaign chairman, and Robert B. Hasbrouck, of IBM, campaign vice-chairman.

Volunteers in the business and industry division include: Arthur W. Buddenhagen and John H. Haulenbeek of Central Hudson; Robert M. Schnitzer, Kingston Hospital; Clifford Henze, Kingston Savings Bank; H. VanWyck Darrow, Savings & Loan Association of Kingston; Allan L. Hanstein, A. L. Hanstein, insurance; A. B. Shufeldt, Universal Road Machinery Company; Norman McLeod, Merrill Lynch, and Oakley Maynard of Hercules Powder Company.

Richard M. Kalish, of Kingston Laundry; N. Jansen Fowler, attorney; David Kline, optometrist; Hadley Williams, Kingston Cablevision; Robert Sabin of Sabin Advertising; Amos R. Newcombe, Newcombe Oil; Jack Flood, Insurance; Edwin Strong, Central Hudson; W. H. McCullen, R. O'Loughlin, S. Maloney, S. Fratoni, N. Wolslegel and F. Crusis of IBM; Gordon Kent, William Blair and John Egbert of New York Telephone Company; Arthur W. Patterson, accountant and Harrison Mueller, Bull Markets, Inc.



TRAFFIC PATTERN TAKES FORM near the Route 28-Thruway interchange for later use of the arterial route spur which will extend from the new circle to the juncture of Albany Avenue and Broadway. Blacktopping of the circle nears completion. Traffic headed into the city from Route 28 will move over the west side of the circle, a section of which is shown here. On the easterly side will be spurs continuing Route 28 to the city, the arterial route spur and the Thruway spur. The view above is looking northwest along Route 28. (Freeman photo)

Seek Federal Funds to Fight Juvenile Crime

NEW YORK (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has been told that federal action is needed in several fields—narcotics and weapons control among them—in the drive to curb juvenile crime.

The committee headed by Sen. Thomas Hennings (D-Mo) concludes today a two-day hearing on the problem, which marks the start of a series of hearings across the country.

Heard Rockefeller

Hennings, conducting the hearing alone Wednesday, heard Gov. Rockefeller, Mayor Robert Wagner, Police Commissioner Stephen Kennedy and other local officials describe the need for federal aid and action.

Rockefeller was one of several witnesses who called for tighter federal control of the narcotics traffic and interstate traffic in weapons.

In a five-point program he also urged that federal lands be made available to states for work camps for young delinquents, and that federal grants be made to public and private groups for research into the delinquency problem.

Regional facilities throughout the country for treatment of dope addicts were also proposed by Rockefeller.

A revision of child labor laws also is being considered, he said, so that idle youths who cannot obtain jobs because of their age may be able to do so.

"Many members of the House and Senate," Hennings said, "will vote construction of dams costing millions of dollars. But they won't vote a nickel to stop the tide of waste and tragedy and loss of strength of good citizens of this country."

He solicited help from Rockefeller and Wagner in getting such bills passed.

Faulty Fuse Box Wires Blamed for Fire in Albany

Fire believed to have started from faulty wires in a cellar fuse box early Wednesday wrecked a two-story frame house and adjoining shop a mile north of Preston Hollow in lower Albany County. The loss was estimated at $35,000.

Mrs. William Albers occupied the home with her son, John, 20, and conducted the printing business herself. In the recent primaries, Mrs. Albers was nominated by the GOP for supervisor of the Town of Rensselaerville.

When Preston Hollow firemen arrived the house and one story printing shop were engulfed in flames. A nearby creek was dry and tankers hauled water to the scene.

Authority Making Probe of Charge Concerning Union

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A union official says a Thruway supervisor told employes to quit the union or face possible firing.

The Thruway Authority says an investigation of the charge is under way.

Jean Couturier, executive director of New York State Council 50, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, made the charge Wednesday in a telegram to Clinton B. F. Brill, authority chairman.

Couturier said William J. Wren, Syracuse area toll supervisor, had told other Thruway workers to quit the union.

An authority spokesman said Wren had denied the charge. The spokesman said an investigation was under way.

"Any such behaviour is contrary to Thruway Authority policy and grievance procedure and will not be tolerated," said Warren M. Wells, acting general manager.

The union is attempting to have the authority recognize it as bargaining agent for employes. The union claims to represent nearly 500 of approximately 850 Thruway toll-collectors and maintenance workers.

Circuit Assembly Set by Jehovah's Witnesses Friday

Final arrangements are being completed by the Kingston Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses to attend the semi-annual circuit assembly at the RPI Field House, Troy, this weekend.

Speaking for the group, E. F. Kidd Jr., presiding minister, said that special arrangements are being made to furnish transportation for interested people to attend the three-day Bible instructional program which begins Friday.

The Troy assembly is being sponsored by the Watchtower Bible Tract Society of Brooklyn, to supplement the "Awake Ministers District Convention" held in Providence, last month.

The theme for the Troy assembly is, "Do the Divine Will." Saturday evening's program will feature the recently released color movie, "Divine Will International Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses."

More than 50 delegates from the Kingston congregation are expected to be on hand to head the assembly highlight, a special public address Sunday 3 p. m. on the subject, "When is God's Will To Be Done on Earth."

Upwards of 1,100 are expected to hear this talk to be delivered by Frank Spacil, district director from the world headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses Brooklyn.

Kingston residents may attend. All seats are free and no collections will be taken at any time.

Postmaster Is Rotary Speaker

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk told the members of the Kingston Rotary Club Wednesday that the mail order obscenity problem, which has continued to grow in this country in recent years, is repugnant to normal parents and the local post office is depending upon parents to help stamp it out.

Postmasters can put the finger on mailers of obscenity only when somebody who receives the material brings it to their attention he said. This is an essential first step toward action that can put the depraved mailers of this filth material behind bars he declared.

The smut peddlers, he said, crib names from high school publications and also buy them from legitimate mail order houses dealing in items of interest to young people.

The local postmaster also appealed to the public to properly address mail and parcel post packages and to furnish return address. There is a great deal of waste of time and money in the handling of carelessly addressed mail, he said.

Following his introductory remarks on the most mechanized post office in the world at Washington, D. C., a movie was shown depicting the operations of this famous postal service.

Wakeman Gardner, manager of the local office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Kingston Rotary's newest member, was presented to the club by Victor Roth.

Among the guests at the luncheon-meeting was Gabby Hayes, famous movie, TV and radio star, who was introduced by Harry Thayer.

AMERICAN MENU

Example Helps Child Learn To Like Many Food Varieties

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

You can plan better meals for your child but often cannot make him eat. He may have his own ideas. But don't try coercion, threats or bribery.

His preferences may bewilder you. Relax. Intelligent patience and expert advice will finally bring him around to liking your balanced meals.

A recent study of the food attitudes of 5-to 12-year-olds may indicate that your own children's attitudes, frustrating though they may seem to you, are pretty normal. Marian E. Breckenridge, of the Merrill-Palmer School in Detroit, studied the preferences and dislikes of 24 boys and 27 girls attending a summer camp. The results, reported in the Journal of the American Dietetic Assn. showed that the average number of foods liked was 19.3 as against an average of 3 disliked. The following foods scored high in popularity: meat, ice cream, potatoes, bread and crackers, milk, raw fruits and cereals.

On the other hand, the least liked foods were fat meat, fish, cooked vegetables, cheese, meat mixtures, eggs and cooked or canned fruit.

Although many of the "disliked" foods are important in a balanced diet, Miss Breckenridge hopefully calls attention to the vacillating nature of childrens' attitudes. Many children have food jags and temporarily dislike certain foods. "Parents may take a long-range view of these vagaries, while children consider only their taste of the moment," she writes.

Food habits, like other habits, are rarely made or changed in a day, Dr. Frances R. Godshall, associate professor of home economics, Temple University in Philadelphia, reminds teachers and parents. In her book, "Nutrition in the Elementary School," she asks: "What will be your attitude to the child who refuses certain food?"

Her common sense reply may help you. "A casual ignoring of the first occurrence may be the only necessary treatment. If you show emotion, the child may enjoy the crisis he has created and may use the same device in the future. Let us take milk as an example. Joey may have accepted milk for all of his four years. Suddenly he declares that he hates milk. If you quietly accept this as a fact of the day, he will probably forget he said it and drink the glass of milk the next day without comment. If he refuses it the second day, it might be wise not to offer milk for several days. It is a good gamble that he will ask for it after a few days. In the meantime, junkets, custards, and puddings can be offered to him. His blood chemistry and body composition will not change from the lack of milk for a few days."

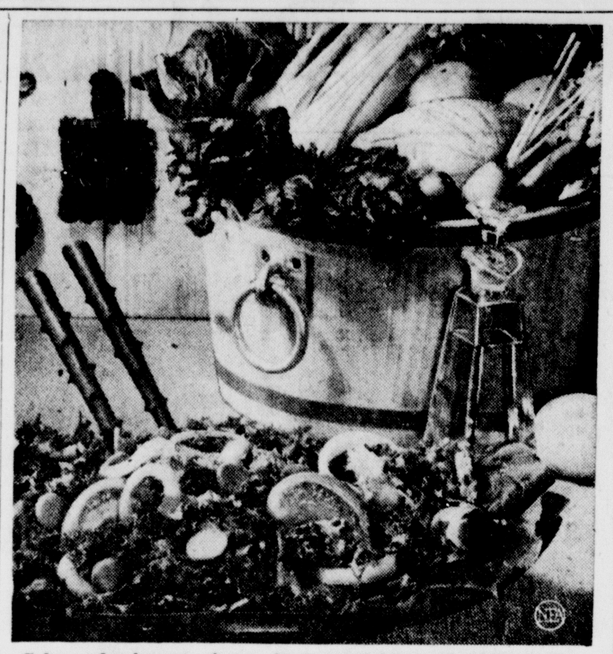
Her best advice on how to help your child learn to enjoy a variety of foods is this: teach by your own example. Let him dine with you at a well-set table and watch his parents enjoy some of the foods he has resisted. Urge him to try just a small bite of a new food—urge gently, do not coerce. He may be agreeably surprised.

You will be amazed at how quickly he can learn to eat raw vegetables like carrots and radishes and salad greens. Their crispness appeals to most children. Therefore, make the salad bowl a regular part of your family dinner. The crisp, appetizing leafy parts of plants, eaten raw, are a rich source of minerals and vitamins, especially vitamin A and C and iron and calcium.

Try this better dinner on your potential young gourmet. It contains foods he likes plus a few he might skip unless he sees you enjoy them: Grapefruit and melon cup; broiled steak; whipped potatoes; tiny peas; enriched bread, butter or margarine; tossed fresh green vegetable salad, lemon juice and oil dressing, vanilla ice cream with crushed fresh or frozen strawberries, coffee, tea, milk.

Tossed Fresh Green Vegetable Salad (Yield: 6 to 8 servings)

Wash drain and dry ½ head each, head lettuce, romaine and chicory. Tear into bite-size pieces and place in a salad bowl. Add 2 cups raw fresh spinach torn into bite-size pieces. Add ½ cup each onion rings, diced celery and thinly sliced fresh raw carrots; 1 cup diced raw tomatoes, 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, ¼ cup salad oil, salt and ground black pepper to taste. Toss lightly. Garnish as desired with fresh tomato wedges and radish roses.



Color and crispness of raw, fresh vegetables and salad greens are appealing. They have built-in appeal for young gourmets.

Vitamins for You

Green asparagus is a good source of vitamin A; white or bleached asparagus has relatively little vitamin A.

The practice of tossing coins for heads or tails dates back to ancient times and its exact origin is unknown.

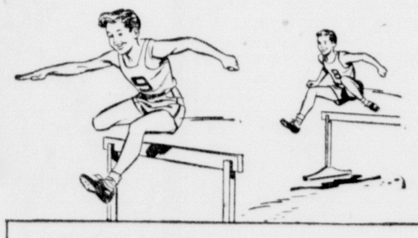
Eat This Revolutionary New White Bread Better In Protein For Health Than Whole Wheat

4 Slices About Equal 5 Slices of Whole Wheat In Complete Protein Content

"HIGHER COMPLETE PROTEIN TO CALORIE RATIO"

Daffodil Farm
ENRICHED BREAD



Contains About 14% Less Calories To Complete Protein... Than The Average of Whole Wheat Bread or Ordinary White Breads Tested

A Remarkable New Advance In Nutrition Made Possible By The New Miracle Protein "Booster" From Milk

SAD but true—there is no "magic pill" to keep vitality up in your family.

But you can provide good nutrition in a well-balanced diet. Such as:

Meat, milk, fish, eggs and high-protein ratio bread . . . energy foods like potatoes and beans . . . protective foods like green-leafed and yellow vegetables, oranges and tomatoes.

All these promote good health and vitality. And, of course, foods lower in calories help keep figures trim.

A White Bread Better Than Whole Wheat

No one questions the health advantages of whole wheat bread. But few relish the taste.

Daffodil Farm Enriched Bread is a great nutritional advance because four slices of "higher complete protein to calorie ratio" Daffodil Farm Enriched Bread about equal five slices of the average of 11 whole wheat breads tested in complete protein content!

A truly remarkable development made possible by the miracle milk protein "booster"—lactalbumin.

Tastes Better—Toasts Better

And Daffodil Farm Enriched Bread gives you more vitamins and minerals. (See chart.)

And—Daffodil Farm Bread contains about 14% less calories to complete protein than the average of whole wheat bread or ordinary white breads tested. Best of all, Daffodil Farm Enriched Bread tastes so good!

And for toasting, it is simply wonderful!

To keep vitality up . . . you'll do better with foods like "higher complete protein to calorie ratio" Daffodil Farm Enriched Bread.

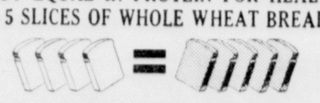
Get it at your grocer's today. Note how firm the loaf is . . . filled with goodness instead of air! And fresh as a daisy! Try Daffodil Farm Enriched Bread today. You'll be glad you did.

Famous New York Home Economist Approves Daffodil Farm Bread

"Daffodil Farm Bread originally interested me because of its high protein food value. After using it, however, I became attached to it because of its wonderful quality and flavor. It does cost more, but is certainly worth more. I feel the milk and all-butter shortening make it taste better and toast better."

Mrs Hyla O'Connor
Author Of Many Well-Known Cook Books

WHY 4 SLICES OF DAFFODIL FARM BREAD ARE ABOUT EQUAL IN PROTEIN FOR HEALTH TO 5 SLICES OF WHOLE WHEAT BREAD



COMPLETE PROTEIN VALUES

DAFFODIL FARM BREAD 76%

100% WHOLE WHEAT BREAD 60%

(Figures are per cent distribution of complete protein as limited by lysine [complete protein contains 5.3 g. of lysine per 100 g. protein] of equal weights of Daffodil Farm Bread and the average of eleven Whole Wheat Breads tested; lysine values based on quantitative chromatographic analysis.)

Slice for slice, compared with 100% Whole Wheat Bread, Daffodil Farm Bread gives the following relative values:

Calcium	+121%
Vitamin B_1	+7%
Vitamin B_2	+116%
Niacin	+44%
Iron	−7%

EAT DAFFODIL FARM
"Higher Complete Protein To Calorie Ratio"
ENRICHED BREAD FOR RICH RED BLOOD

Blood cells are protein structures. Thus, plenty of protein is needed for rich red blood. Daffodil Farm Bread is also enriched with iron . . . another important part of your blood.

Safe to say, protein is the most important food for the body. Because it takes protein to build the structure of the body.

STRONG BONES AND TEETH

75% of muscle structure (dry) is protein. Pound for pound, the growing child requires TWICE the protein of an adult.

Bones and teeth growth is dependent upon protein. For protein makes the "mold" into which Nature puts the hard minerals that make the bones.

The "growing ends" of the long bones which determine height must have plenty of the right kinds of protein. Or growth will be retarded due to improper or inadequate deposition of minerals.

Egg Prices Gain, Still Under '58

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says egg prices by early September have recovered considerably from the long-time lows recorded this spring, but they still are sharply below a year ago.

The average price to farmers for eggs in recent weeks has been 30.9 cents a dozen. This is 6 cents above the spring-time low, but still 6.8 cents under the prices of a year ago.

The department said that even though hatching of chicks has declined, prices of broilers are near the low of the year. Poultry production has increased sharply during recent years with prices this year falling to the lowest point since the start of World War II.

Two Aircraft Firms to Merge

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Possible merger of the Twin Coach Co., of Buffalo and Hiller Aircraft Corp., of Palo Alto, Calif., has been announced.

Name Committees Of Cub Pack 13

The monthly meeting of Cub Pack 13 of P-TA, School No. 7 was held Tuesday night at the school. The theme for the month was "Pets and Hobbies." The Den tables displayed puppets, plaques and games made by the Cubs during September. The opening flag ceremonies were conducted by Den 1, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance.

One Is Graduated

Cubmaster Everett F. Schoen introduced Mrs. William C. Hughes and her son, Bruce, who was transferred into Den 2 of Pack 13 from Pack 19. A new Bobcat, Robert Davis, was welcomed into the Pack and his mother, Mrs. Arthur A. Davis Jr., stood with her son during the welcome into the Pack. Christopher Reuner was graduated from Cubbing and his Den Chief, Eric Scott, presented him with his award ribbon. Cubmaster Schoen made a short farewell speech to Chris and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Reuner, who were present for the ceremony.

A Lion badge was awarded to James Myers while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Myers, stood with him at the ceremonial table. An Assistant Denner stripe was awarded to Ralph Hillis of Den 5.

A short program followed with David Ackert of Den 1 showing and explaining a book of drawings he had made. James Myers of Den 1 also showed and explained his Log Book. This month "Cubby" was awarded to Den 1 for having the most parents in attendance. Den Chief Michael Angstrom accepted the award for the Den.

Cubmaster Schoen explained to the boys that for the 50th anniversary of Scouting a Cub Scout could earn the "50th Anniversary Achievement Award" to be worn over the service pin. Details of earning this special award were explained. An adults' meeting was then held while the Cubs participated in a program of games. The following meetings were announced for October:

Meetings Listed

Round Table: Monday, Oct. 19, 8 p. m. at School 7 with Pack 13 as host.

Committee meeting: Wednesday, Oct. 21, 8 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Ackert, 10 Granite Court.

The next Pack Meeing will be held Tuesday, Oct. 27 at 8 p. m. at School No. 7. Parents are urged to make a special effort to attend this important meeting

During the parents' meeting, Robert Ackert, president of the School No. 7 P-TA spoke briefly with reference to the proposed change in the lunch program at the school. Those interested were asked to attend the meeting of the P-TA Council on Monday evening in the KHS Library.

Cubmaster Schoen discussed the 50th anniversary of Scouting with reference to contributions toward a commemorative tribute to be placed in Washington, D. C. This topic will be taken up in further detail at a later date.

It was decided to have extra committees composed of parents and Den Mothers, where necessary, to assist in the Pack activities and meetings during the year. The following committee members were tentatively chosen:

Ideas Committee—Robert J. Ackert, chairman; Mrs. John Cline, Den Mother.

Recruiting Committee—Robert E. Walker, chairman; Alan B. Holt.

Recreation and Games—Martin A. Sior, chairman; Ralph H. Stewart.

Coordinating Publicity — Arthur A. Davis Jr.

Refreshments—Mrs. Robert J. Ackert, Mrs. Alan B. Holt, Mrs. Ralph H. Stewart.

Advancement—Robert E. Hillis.

Blue and Gold Banquet—Mrs. Eugene G. Giacoma.

Finance and Fund Raising—Eugene G. Giacoma.

Mrs. Everett F. Schoen will handle publicity with reference to Pack meetings in place of Mrs. Herbert H. Reuner whose son has now graduated from Cubbing.

Further details with reference to these committees will be discussed at the next Pack meeting.

Project Continues

The newspaper and magazine project of Pack 13 is continuing as an important source of fund raising. All Cubs and their parents are urged to save newspapers and magazines and leave them in the garage of Mr. Walker at 171 Fairview Avenue. Newspapers must be tied in bundles.

At the conclusion of the adults' meeting, the Cubs and parents joined in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Den 1 conducted the closing ceremonies and refreshments were prepared and served by Den 1 mothers.

May Check Minutes

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Frank Laino has won the right to inspect the minutes of the Utica special grand jury which indicted him recently on charges of evading state income taxes.

The Appellate Division, Fourth Department, had heard his attorney, Paul Shanahan, contend that books and records Laino was obliged to produce for the jury were used to support the indictment. Shanahan added that Laino had thus been indicted on his own testimony.

The court Wednesday granted the right to inspect the minutes and advised Laino he could make "such further motions for dismissal of the indictment as he may be advised."

A motion to inspect the minutes is usually followed by a motion to dismiss the indictment.

Laino, who operates a tire service in Utica, was indicted July 2 by a grand jury investigating vice and gambling there.

NEW! The $25,000 Winning Recipe in 11th GRAND NATIONAL BAKE-OFF

Adapted by Ann Pillsbury

Bake at 375 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Makes two 9-inch layers.

Melt ⅔ cup butterscotch morsels in ¼ cup water in saucepan. Cool.

Sift together 2¼ cups sifted Pillsbury's Best All Purpose flour,
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda and
½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder. Set aside.

Add 1 cup sugar and
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar gradually to ½ cup shortening. Creaming well.

Blend in 3 unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating well after each.

Blend in melted butterscotch morsels; mix well.

Add the dry ingredients alternately with 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Blend thoroughly after each addition. (With electric mixer use a low speed).

Turn into two 9-inch round layer pans, well greased and lightly floured on the bottoms.

Bake at 375 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes until cake springs back when touched lightly in center. Cool; spread filling between layers and on top to within ½ inch of edge. Frost sides and top edge with sea foam frosting or whipped cream.

Butterscotch Filling

Combine ½ cup sugar and 1 tablespoon corn starch in 2-quart saucepan. Stir in ½ cup evaporated milk, ⅓ cup water, ⅔ cup butterscotch morsels and 1 beaten egg yolk, cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Remove from heat; add 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup cocoanut, chopped, and 1 cup pecans or walnuts, chopped. Cool.

Sea Foam Frosting

Combine in saucepan ⅓ cup sugar, ⅓ cup firmly packed brown sugar, ⅓ cup water and 1 tablespoon corn syrup. Cook until a little syrup dropped in cold water forms a soft ball (236 degrees F.). Meanwhile, beat 1 egg white with ¼ teaspoon Cream of Tartar until stiff peaks form. Add syrup to egg white in slow, steady stream, beating constantly until thick enough to spread.

Kingston Power Boat Members All Ready For Saturday Event

Members of the Kingston Power Boat Association, Inc., and ladies of the Auxiliary, are busy with final preparations for the Hudson Celebration Ball to be held Saturday night in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

General chairman, Charles J. Cole, with his co-chairmen, County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, Donald W. Schyver, Jack Feye and Tohmas Feeney, anticipate a record attendance for this event given in conjunction with this Year of History celebration.

Tickets chairman, James Moore, reports a large advance sale which should make this a memorable event.

"Although the Half Moon may not be in the Crystal Room," says Mrs. Al Jaffer, chairman of decorations who referred to Henry Hudson's sailing up the Hudson 350 years ago, "a nautical theme has been used in our decorations for the occasion."

The celebration also commemorates the organization of the sponsoring boating club 20 years ago. Since that time, it has grown to its present status as one of the major boating groups along the historic Hudson, boasting a fleet roster of 59 boats and a membership of 157 boat-minded area residents.

Commodore W. Vernon Radel invites all area residents to participate in this social during this Year of History and make it a social success.

Wendell Scherer and his band will play for dancing. Chairman on arrangements, Mrs. Charles J. Cole, has announced that dress will be optional.

Hospital Auxiliary Activities Noted

The luncheon meeting of the executive committee of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary was held at the Nurses Residence on Wednesday, Sept. 23.

Luncheon arrangements were made by Mrs. Stephen McGrath, chairman of the hospitality committee.

The membership committee chairman, Mrs. T. R. Smalldon, reported that a questionnaire was being sent in the Newsletter to each current and new Auxiliary member requesting fields of interest and availability to do volunteer work. Announcement was made of a coffee hour meeting to be held for new members at which functions of the Auxiliary and duties of the volunteer members would be explained. These meetings will be held periodically to orient new members to the hospital and Auxiliary.

Miss Marguerite Meyers, co-chairman of the Candy Stripers, told of the training program planned for the coming year with classes to be held in September, January and May. Girls interested in joining the Candy Stripers will train in particular fields and present members will graduate to more advanced training at these times.

The letter of interests inquiry sent the student nurses by the activities committee was read by Mrs. Robert Numrich, chairman. The activities program formulated according to the replies was reported and the executive committee set up a budget to assist this committee in their work.

Mrs. Anthony Turck, chairman of the desk committee, reported on the fine summer response of her volunteer workers. A meeting will be held by this committee on Tuesday, Oct. 6, to familiarize the new volunteers with their duties.

Mrs. Kirtland F. Snyder, president, announced the appointment of Mrs. Stephen McGrath and Mrs. Thomas W. Reynolds Jr., to represent the Auxiliary at the meetings of the Ulster County Social Agencies.

Good Taste Today

MUST SHE KEEP GIFT PIN?

Dear Mrs. Post: When I retired as president of our women's club, the members took up a collection and bought me a pin. The pin was bought at our local jeweler's and while it is very nice, it is not my taste. There is another pin in the window at this same jeweler's that I have been admiring and would much prefer it to the one they bought for me. Would it be proper for me to tell them of my preference and ask them to exchange it, or could they possibly be offended? Will you please advise me on this matter.

Answer; If the jeweler is willing to let you have the pin you would like in exchange for the one given to you, and at no extra cost, I think you may ask the members to make the exchange for you. You must have some understandable reason why you prefer the new pin to the one they chose for you. This might be because the blue stones in on pin go with more of your dresses than the red ones in the other.

Announcing a Broken Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: Would you suggest announcing a broken engagement in the newspapers, or forgetting it and hoping others will?

Answer: This depends upon what you find least distressing. If there is uncertainty about the situation, and talk, then it would be better to send a formal announcement to the newspaper that "the engagement of Miss Mary Smith and Mr. John Jones has been broken by mutual consent." Otherwise, it would be better to let the news drift from one person to another.

Putting Up the Wedding Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: What obligation is there for the bride's family to put up the various guests coming from out of town for the wedding? Are there any who have to be taken care of and any who don't have to be?

Answer: The bride's attendants who come from out of town have to be provided for by her family, but not necessarily any others. It would be very hospitable to take care of the bridegroom's immediate family, if possible. But this is the exception rather than the rule.

THOMAS STILLWELL HOUSE — Among the houses to be open to the public during the Old Stone House Day of the Town of Rochester Saturday, Oct. 10, is the Thomas Stillwell House built about 1750. The stone wall of the house is two feet thick. The dining room features such early items as the Dutch oven, bed niche and stairway at the side of the fireplace leading to a loft above. In the cellar is an open spring. Five generations of Stillwell's descendants have lived in the house. (Freeman photo)

Town of Rochester Stone Houses Will Be Open to Public on Saturday, October 10

A celebration of New York's Year of History will be observed at Accord Saturay, Oct. 10, when a tour of old stone houses will be sponsored by the Rochester Reformed Church.

Several of the old stone houses in the Accord area will be open to the public showing architecture and furnishings characteristic of the 18th century when many of the stone houses were built. Some have been greatly altered, some of them rebuilt but some of them are preserved as they originally were.

The Dutch ovens, wide plank flooring, heavy hand hewn beams, Dutch double doors with orginal hardware, deep seated windows, and large fireplaces are still in evidence.

Settlers came as early as 1676 and soon more followed, clearing the land of trees which were used to build homes and barns. In 1703 the name of "Mumbakkus" was officially changed to the Town of Rochester with over 300 persons living within the bounds of the new town.

Church Services in 1695

Religious services began in 1695 when Dominie John Petrus Nucella of Kingston visited the valley as time permitted, making the journey on horseback. In 1700 a log church was built and in 1701 the Rochester Reformed Church was formally organized making it the third oldest in Ulster County and the oldest one in the Rondout Valley.

In 1743 a stone church was built to replace the log one. This was also used as a fort if necessary although no Indian raids are recorded in Accord. In 1818 the stone church was torn down and a larger stone structure was built. In 1860 a large wooden church with pillars was built with seating capacity of some six hundred. The building was struck by lightning and burned in 1901. In 1902 a wooden church without pillars was constructed on the same foundation. This was destroyed by fire Christmas morning 1921. The present building was dedicated in October, 1924.

The settlers in the area were farmers. When the War for Independence was being fought many wagon loads of flour were shipped from the Town of Rochester. Many acres are still under cultivation.

Transportation Methods

Marked changes have taken place as time has passed. Besides the modern conveniences of home and business life there are four distinct eras in transportation.

The woodroad and turnpike "Old Mine Road" and "Lucas Turnpike" have been changed to concrete and tarvia. The riding horse, wagan and stagecoach has given away to the automobile, truck and bus.

The D and H Canal carried thousands of tons of freight from Pennsylvania to Rondout during the last three-quarters of the past century.

This was closed and the O and W Railroad succeeded in increased volume of business until recently when it was sold and the tracks removed.

Among the houses to be opened to the public for the first time this year are two on Kings Highway. One is near Route 209 and is known as the Markle House although the name of the actual builder is unknown.

The other is the Thomas Stillwell House. It is thought he built the first part of the house around 1750 and also established the Stillwell line in Ulster County. He was a fourth descendant of Lieutenant Nicholas Stillwell who came to America from Surrey, England in 1644.

Lieutenant Stillwell made his home on Long Island but thereafter served as one of the three officers commanding troops at Esopus during the Indian troubles in 1663.

Maria Stillwell, daughter of Lewis Stillwell (Thomas' grandson) in 1841 married Jacob H. Westbrook, of the Canyon Lake Farms. They dwelt in the Stillwell Home thus giving the name "Westbrook" to the house itself. It has been occupied by five generations of Thomas Stillwell's descendants.

The present owners are Mrs. H. Theodric Westbrook of Claremont, Calif. and Mrs. Wilhelmina Westbrook Throop of Scarsdale.

Luncheon will be served at the church by the Ladies' Aid starting at 11:30 a. m.

Tickets for the guided tour of houses may be obtained at the church.

It is hoped that many will take the advantage of the opportunity to visit this area, see the houses, and enjoy the colorful foliage in the Rondout Valley.

Lyric Choristers, a women's choral group in Kingston has begun its fall rehearsals. Under the direction of Rolland Heermance, more than 30 women have started preparations for their Christmas concert to be presented December 16.

These singers met for their first rehearsal September 16, and women are invited to join the group in their singing during the next few weeks. Rehearsal is held each Wednesday for two hours, beginning at 8 p. m. at Comforter Hall.

Music now in rehearsal includes both light and classical works, including those of Jay Livingston and Ray Evans, Pergolesi, Bach, and James H. Rogers.

Tool Engineers Map Plans to Expand Program

Visiting the executive meeting of the Catskill Chapter of the American Society of Tool Engineers Wednesday night were Joseph Petz of Poughkeepsie and Marvin Bunting, representative of National Headquarters.

They discussed ideas for improving interest and attendance at the general membership meetings. The executive committee, consisting of 12 men representing Rotron, Electrol, Graphic Techniques, Cinrock Machinery Co. and IBM is concerned with arousing increased participation and therefore set up a many-sided plan to accomplish this in the coming months. Petz pointed out that the local chapter is going through growing pains which are normal.

Other items discussed were changing the name of the American Society of Tool Engineers (ASTE) to American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers (ASTME) and a scholarship fund.

The next general membership meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 14 and will feature a lecture followed by a question and answer period on "Plastic Tooling for Industry." The technical program will be led by Richard L. Rouviere of Devcon Plastic Steel Corp.

Miss Betty Lou Osterhoudt of Stone Ridge, Bruce Garritt Wed in Double Ring Ceremony

United in marriage Sunday Sept. 13, at 2 p. m. at the Stone Ridge Methodist Church were Miss Betty Lou Osterhoudt of Stone Ridge and Bruce Garritt of Cragsmoor.

The Rev. Lester Finley, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with white gladioli and laurel. Mrs. Arnold Jacobsen sang O Promise Me and I Love You Truly.

The bride, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Vandermark of Stone Ridge, was given in marriage by her grandfather. She chose a floor length gown of imported lace tulle styled with a Sabrina neckline and fitted bodice. Her bouffant skirt of tulle over satin was trimmed with medallions of lace embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. Her ballerina length veil of French illusion was caught to a silver crown with insets of rhinestones and pearls. She carried a white prayer book with a cascade of pompons and ivy.

Mrs. Eunice Smiseth of Stone Ridge was honor attendant for her niece in a candy pink nylon ballerina length gown with draped bodice, cameo neckline and bouffant skirt. She wore a Grecian style headpiece of leaves with matching veil and carried a nosegay of yellow pompons.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Raymond Timmens of Hyde Park, sister of the bride, Miss Janet Garritt of Cragsmoor, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Calvin Ridel Jr. of Stone Ridge. They were attired in romance blue gowns, identical in style to the honor attendant's and carried nosegays of yellow pompons.

Francis Schwab of Cragsmoor was best man. Ushers were John Vandemark, uncle of the bride, of Stone Ridge, Floyd Osterhoudt of Liberty, brother of the bride, and Walter Sehrig of Cragsmoor.

A reception for 100 guests followed at the Barn, Route 28. Johnny Knapp's orchestra played for dancing.

For a tour of northern New York State, the bride chose a traveling ensemble of blue lace with red accessories and a corsage of whitet pompons. The couple will make their home at Cragsmoor.

Mrs. Garritt is a graduate of Kingston High School. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garritt of Cragsmoor, is a graduate of Ellenville High School and is employed by the Ulster County Highway Department.

Bombs Injure Five

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Bombs planted in two buses Wednesday night injured five persons in Argentina's 48-hour strike against the government's austere economic policy. President Arturo Frondizi accused the Communists of being instigators of the strike which began Wednesday.

Ulster to List New Date for Town Polio Clinic

The Town of Ulster polio clinic, originally set for August 25 but cancelled due to unavailability of vaccine, will be rescheduled at a meeting of the special clinic committee Monday night, it was reported today by Chairman Ted Musialkiewicz.

The meeting of the committee has been called for 7:30 p. m. at Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

Musialkiewicz explained that the August 25 clinic was canceled because of polio outbreaks in other parts of the nation. Available supplies of vaccine were diverted to those areas.

Musialkiewicz has been notified by the Ulster County Board of Health that a supply of vaccine has been received and is available for the proposed Town of Ulster clinic. Residents of all five districts of the township are eligible.

A new date for the clinic will be discussed Monday and notice published.

Chairman Musialkiewicz urged residents to avail themselves of the opportunity to obtain polio shots, pointing out that this is the only way to curb the disease.

Mrs. Paul Chmura, RN, is in charge of nurses who will participate in the clinic. Mrs. Muriel Short will be in charge of a staff work.

Not Roughing It

PITTSBURGH (AP)—As usual, the Nikita Khrushchevs aren't roughing it during their stay in Pittsburgh.

Their suite in the Carlton House includes three bedrooms, a 26 by 18-foot living room, a kitchen, a full dressing room and bath.

Normally it cost $75 a day.

Something new has been added, but no one knew whether Khrushchev bothered to turn on the $500 television set.

Kingston High Gridders Open Season Friday at Port Jervis

Other Top Area Scholastic Tilts Are Scheduled

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Coach Bill Burke will unveil his 1959 Kingston High School football team at Port Jervis Friday night in an 8 p. m. arc-light contest and the tilt promises to be the best of a good slate this week.

Two other night games are on tap. Saugerties will meet Arlington at the high school field in an important DCSL clash and Wappingers Falls will journey to Hudson for a meeting with Frank Hamblet's warriors.

Poughkeepsie will start its DUSO League season on Saturday with a game at Middletown. Highland is at Beacon in a DCSL clash and two UCAL contests — Marlboro at New Paltz and Wallkill at Rondout Valley—are also slated. Onteora hosts Cornwall-on-Hudson in a non-league skirmish.

Kingston will take the field with a brand new team. The backfield which produced three unbeaten seasons in a row has been graduated and Coach Burke is trying to find his four best players to fill the gaps. The line, with the exception of the two end positions, is also new.

Seek Fourth Title

The locals will be aiming for their fourth straight DUSO championship and they will open against a talent loaded squad that lost by a touchdown last week against Nyack. However, Joe Viglione can't be feeling too low because he still has Frank Bell at halfback and he promises to be even greater than last season, when he was selected to the All-DUSO First Team.

Coach Burke feels the defense will be just as good this season but the offense will be much weaker. You can't lose two extraordinary players like quarterback Jerry McDonough and halfback Hobie Armstrong and not get hurt. The opening tilt could give a line on what local fans are to expect this season.

Saugerties, which played a scoreless tie with Red Hook last week, should have a little too much for Arlington. Coach Bill Straub will welcome back Pete Cotich, Bob Whitaker and Bill Lezette, three first stringers. They were ineligible last week and their absence was felt. Arlington shut out a weak Liberty eleven, 19-0, in its opener, but does not figure to be in the same class as the Sawyers. Halfback Don Marchese is Fritz Jordan's best player.

Wappingers, which figures to be a threat in the DCSL, lost its opener against a rugged Peekskill club. Hudson lost most of its talent which produced an unbeaten season last year and does not figure to be in the same class as the Fallsmen.

Pioneers Favored

Sam Kalloch has an unknown club at Poughkeepsie but he has two speedy halfbacks in Jimmy Gordon and Wilmore Pitcher. However, he does have a quarterback problem which might not be solved. Still, the Pioneers should beat Middletown, which is better than last year, but not by too much.

The Highland-Beacon fracas could be the closest one of the day. Bob Relyea's Highlanders were knocked on their heels at Carmel last week while Beacon extended Newburgh before finally losing. The winner will be favored in what promises to be a close DCSL race. Highland has won the title two straight years.

Rondout Opens Season

Rondout Valley opens its campaign against point happy Wallkill. The visitors nipped Pine Bush, 21-20, last week and are picked to capture laurels in the UCAL. Rondout is thin in reserve strength but has a good first team.

New Paltz appears a little better than Marlboro, though the Dukes opened with a win at Haldane. The Huguenots held strong Millbrook and Phil Strother to a 13-13 tie. However, this is a traditional contest and it could go either way.

Young Onteora has another tuneup before starting its league season. Cornwall is one of the better small schools in Orange County and will provide a stern test for Tom Wheeler's club, a 10-0 loser to Pawling last week.

TERRY CORKERY

PETE LEEDS

SET FOR ACTION—Two veteran performers, end Terry Corkery, (above), and center Pete Leeds, will be among the starters for Kingston High School Friday night when the Maroon eleven invades Port Jervis for a DUSO attraction. Both saw action last season as KHS swept league laurels for the third straight time. (Freeman photos).

James Carlson Elected National LL President

James L. Carlson of 57 Newkirk Avenue has been elected president of the National Little League of Kingston. He succeeds John Spada, who completed two successful terms as president.

An employe of the New York Telephone Company, Carlson has been an ardent and enthusiastic worker for Little League. He said he hoped to maintain the high standards set by Spada and make the 1960 season one of the best.

Other officers elected were: Charles Diers, first vice president; Richard Kelder, second vice president; Rose Hogan, secretary and Jake Suskie, treasurer.

Named to the Board of Directors were John Spada, Henry Houghtaling, Walter Harder and John Hogan.

Emilio Primo was designated park director and Thomas Oulton will be the umpire in chief.

Hansgen Heads Grand Prix Car Event Entrants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. (AP)—Walt Hansgen of Westfield, N. J., 1958 S. C. C. A. national champion, heads a list of 190 entrants for the Grand Prix sports car road race here Saturday.

The 101.2-mile, 44-lap Grand Prix, the oldest road race in America, will see the nation's leading amateur drivers duel for the trophy and a boost in national point standings.

Hansgen, 1958 Sports Car Club of America titleholder, will pilot a Briggs Cunningham Lister-Jaguar. He'll be battling Ed Crawford of Northfield, Ill., in another Lister-Jaguar, who flashed in front of Hansgen for the Prix victory last fall. Hansgen is a two-time Prix winner.

The field will also include George Constantine of Southbridge, Mass., in an Aston Martin.

Constantine, another former Prix winner, and Hansgen are locked in a battle for S. C. C. A.'s Class C modified title, which the Prix may decide.

Fred Windridge of Washington, D. C., '57 Glen Trophy winner, will compete in a Lister-Kelso; Robert Holbert of Warrington, Pa., twice winner of the Queen Catherine Cup, in a Porsche RSK; and Gaston Andrey of Framingham, Mass., third in the 1958 Prix, will drive a Ferrari TR.

Practice laps make up Friday's schedule. All drivers will log at least five laps around the 2.3-mile oval overlooking Seneca Lake.

Six preliminary races, the first of which gets under way at 10 a. m. precede the Prix Saturday. These include the Seneca Cup for restricted, Formula Jr. and Formula III cars, and the Queen Catherine Cup, for G, H and I modified cars.

Bell Predicts Top NFL Season

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League will have its greatest year competitively in 1959, Commissioner Bert Bell predicted today.

Bell, discussing prospects for the league season opening Saturday night in Los Angeles with the Rams meeting the New York Giants, made these other observations:

He doesn't expect the league to break its 1958 attendance record of 3,006,000.

Teams will earn a total of 1½ million dollars in television revenue.

All 12 teams should finish in the black financially.

Bell said the lower teams such as Green Bay, Philadelphia and the Chicago Cardinals have improved tremendously.

Following the Giants - Rams opener Saturday night, the rest of the clubs start the league's 40th season Sunday with the Chicago Bears at Green Bay.

Monticello Closes Season With Financial Increases

The total attendance during the 83 nights of racing in the 1959 season was 438,163, compared with 327,259 for the 74 nights of racing in the 1958 season. The daily average in attendance during the 1959 season was 5,279, compared with a daily average of 4,424 in 1958.

The daily average of bets during the past season was recorded at $236,108, compared with a daily average total of $167,694 in 1958.

July was the second biggest period of betting. During the month 149,501 fans bet a total of $6,247,265. In the same period in 1958, 11,692 fans wagered a total of $4,194,125 during 27 racing nights.

Craig Pitches LA to Tie With Braves

Shuts Out Cards, 3-0 as Pirates Top Champs, 5-4

Giants Stay 2 Behind After 9-8 Loss to Cubs

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers have crashed through again for a first place tie in the National League pennant scramble, and their ace in the race is Roger Craig, a once forgotten, ruddy-faced right-hander.

It was Craig, pulled back from the minors in mid-June, who got the Dodgers started on their jump to the top by beating San Francisco 4-1 in the opener of that day-night doubleheader sweep over the Giants last Saturday.

And Wednesday night he pushed them back into a tie with Milwaukee, blanking St. Louis on five hits for a 3-0 victory after the Braves had stumbled for a 5-4 loss at Pittsburgh.

That Milwaukee loss, ending the Braves' streak at four games, also fanned a spark of life into the third place Giants, who trail by two games after a 9-8 loss in 10 innings to the Chicago Cubs—their fifth straight setback.

Three Games Left

Each of the contenders has three games remaining. The Braves, however, play their's at home, meeting last place Philadelphia Friday night, Saturday and Sunday. The Dodgers finish at Chicago against the clubbing Cubs while the Giants, more dead than alive, finish at St. Louis. They all get a day off today.

The Dodgers, winning five of their last six, have putaway 16 of their last 25 games, and Craig, leading the NL with a 2.12 earned run average, is 4-0 in that spurt. Southpaw Johnny Podres and reliever Chuck Churn each have won three, while Don Drysdale, the ace who tumbled, is 2-4.

Craig, 28, allowed the Cardinals just one extra-base hit, a third-inning double by Don Blasingame, and struck out five. He fanned Ken Boyer, the Cards' power guy, three times, twice with men on base.

Mathews Slams 44th

The Braves, handed only their fourth defeat in 17 games, were tumbled after Ed Mathews' 44th home run, with a man on, had boomed them into a 4-all tie in the eighth. The Pirates then beat reliever Joey Jay (6-11) on consecutive singles by Bill Virdon, pinch-hitter Rocky Nelson and Bob Skinner in their eighth.

Ron Kline (11-13) was the winner—for a 5-15 career record against the Braves. He allowed six hits, but walked just one and struck out six in his eight innings. Elroy Face put away the save in the ninth.

The Giants, who must win all three remaining games and hope the Dodgers and Braves each lose two to gain even a tie, were beaten by Cal Neeman's home run, his third, with two out in the tenth. Rookie Ed Fisher (2-5), seventh Giant pitcher, was the loser. Don Elston (10-8) won it in relief.

The only other games in the majors were in the American League, where the pennant-winning White Sox were idle. New York beat Washington 5-4, Kansas City defeated Detroit 7-6 and Boston whipped Baltimore 4-0 on Jerry Casale's nine-hitter.

GORDON TO REMAIN TRIBE MANAGER—Frank Lane, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, figuratively hands the ball back to field manager Joe Gordon at a press conference in Cleveland. Lane's surprise announcement that Gordon had been signed to a new two-year contract went completely contrary to popular rumor that Gordon was finished with the Tribe. (NEA Telephoto)

Gordon, Lane Settle Tiff; Sign Contract

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Joe Gordon, the old and new field manager of the Cleveland Indians; his boss, Frank Lane, and practically all the team's fans here agreed today: "Peace—it's wonderful."

Differences between Gordon and the general manager were big enough six days ago to cause Joe to announce formally he wouldn't work for Lane another year.

Then came a long talk Wednesday between the two. The differences were reconciled.

And now Gordon has signed to work another two years as Cleveland's field pilot and at a salary unofficially reported to include a $10,000-a-year raise to $40,000.

The two-year term was Lane's idea, Gordon said, adding: "He must think I'm a better manager than he sometimes says I am."

"After summing everything up, I decided that the best man to succeed Joe Gordon was Joe Gordon," said Lane at a news conference.

Gordon had been relieved Tuesday night after the Indians were eliminated mathematically from the pennant race.

"We were just two hot-heads in a pennant race," Gordon explained to the assembled newsmen. "We sat down and had a long talk and completely ironed out our differences. I guess we even surprised ourselves."

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Two men prominent in the athletic picture of the community passed from the scene in recent days.

Anton (Gus) Steigerwald, well known for his associations with the Yellow Jacket football team and other sports, and Walt Black, a peerless pitcher in the pre-war period, have gone to eternal rest.

Steigerwald, whom nature carved like a rugged oak, was one of the most avid sports fans and participants we met in 30 years on this beat. His name was synonymous with the glories of the Yellow Jackets, whom he served as trainer and for whom his son, Jim, was an outstanding player.

He was also interested in bowling, having been a member of the No-Can-Do League for 15 years and having also bowled with the Booster League. He was also keenly interested in the old City Baseball League, when the twilight circuit was one of the most appreciated sports institutions in the city.

The love of sports and mankind made Gus Steigerwald a tremendous, pleasant and warm human being. He was a credit to sports in Kingston and his passing comes as a deep shock to the many folks who knew and loved him.

• Had Major League Potential:

The Walter Black story was one of the great tragedies in local sports history. Here was a brilliant lefthander, whose pitching form was poetry in motion, struck down at the zenith of his career by an industrial accident.

In the period preceding his accident, which wrecked a potential major league career and left him seriously handicapped for the rest of his life, Black looked like he might join the Bud Cullotons and Myron Allens of local baseball legend. He blanked the powerful New York Black Yankees, one of the great Negro teams of the pre-war period, and the equally rugged House of David in successive outings in the mid-1930s. He pitched for all the major independent teams in the area and was generally acclaimed as Kingston's best pitcher since Bud Culloton. Then came the accident. We played with and against Black for a number of years. He was a superb ball player and rugged competitor. His passing leaves a void in the thinning ranks of the old timers group.

• Of Men and Mice:

Dick Schopinsky of Marlboro is one of the returning veterans on the crack Cobleskill State Aggies cross country squad which opens its season against New York City Tech at Van Cortland Park on Oct. 3. And listed among the bright crop of rookies is Dick's brother, Gerald Schopinsky; Lew Faxon, who was one of the state's best track and cross country runners with Saugerties High the past few years and Dave Simmons of Poughkeepsie. . . . Orange County Golf Club at Middletown, one of the oldest in the country, is celebrating its 60th anniversary. The club was legally incorporated on May 4, 1899, "at 4 p. m." the records say. About 30 persons attended the historic meeting. Arrangements were made to lease the clubhouse—a farm house—and land for $450 a year and an expert was hired to help lay out the course; his salary was $40 per month. It was on Memorial Day of 1899 that club members gathered for "the formal exercises of opening the links for play."

• Splits and Misses:

Three bowlers will respond if you yell "Hey, George" around the Topp's Cleaner squad, reading from left to right: Glaser, Shufeldt and Magley. . . . IBM Field Engineering League circles its 500 triples and team results in red pencil. How about that for cooperation! . . . Nicknames may sound nice around the old gang, like "Hi Cuddles," etc., but they don't belong in bowling boxscores. How many bowlers know that the oldest, continuous league in the city is the YMCA Mercantile? . . . With four of the ten squads emanating from Kingston, you'd think the Hudson Valley Bowling League pennant would be decided in favor of Kingston by sheer strength of numbers. . . . Newburgh's entry will have Lou Campi's services only infrequently. The same is true with Jones Dairy and Walter Cuches. . . . The latter, relatively unknown in the area, is one of the Met district's best.

HORSE LAUGH—A young breeder explained to an attractive visitor the intricacies of naming thoroughbreds. He told her how, for example, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's famed Gray Ghost and television favorite was called Native Dancer because he was by Polynesian and out of Geisha. He explained how a current two-year-old Greentree filly was aptly named Silly Question because she was by Tom Fool and the dam being What's New. That evening, under the witchery of a romantic moon, the breeder pressed his attention on the miss with such fervor that she promptly left for home. Arriving she telegaphed the amorous horseman: "Home, by Jove, out of Danger."

Cubs Prepared To Eliminate LA In Pennant Race

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, having all but knocked the San Francisco Giants out of the National League pennant race, today prepared Operation Graveyard for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Playing the role of wreckers to the ultimate, the Cubs kayoed the Giants 9-8 in 10 innings Wednesday.

Giant Manager Bill Rigney, speaking without enthusiasm, could only say "we're still alive, they haven't counted us out yet."

But Rigney knew there will be no pennant for the Giants even though they retain a mathematical chance. He knew it's tough enough to catch one club but both Milwaukee and Los Angeles are ahead of the Giants.

"Our lack of relief pitching really showed up out there today," Rigney said. "But that has been our trouble all year."

Rigney was tossed out of the game in the seventh inning when he protested a call at third base. Willie McCovey doubled to left and was out when he tried for three bases and overslid third.

Rigney charged out of the dugout and was thumbed out by Umpire Frank Dascoli.

The Cubs were now pointing for the Dodgers.

Manager Bob Scheffing said he enjoyed playing the role of wrecker but that he would rather be fighting for the pennant than for fifth place.

St. Remy Set For Events At Gun Club

The annual field day and turkey shoot at the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club Preserve in St. Remy on Sunday will feature many novel and attractive events. There will be events for men and women along with a special archery shoot. Running deer for high powered rifles, flying pheasant for shot gun enthusiasts along with trap and the ever popular skeet shooting. Both the trap and skeet fields will be in readiness for those wishing to participate. Eviscerated turkeys and hams will be awarded in every event and an attendance award will be made. Refreshments will be available. The field will open at noon and shooting will continue until dusk. Signs will mark the entrance to the preserve which is located just off Route 213, 1 mile south of the St. Remy Firehouse.

Minor Flop Craig Is Major Star

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Thanks to Roger Craig, a 17-game loser in the minors a year ago, the Los Angeles Dodgers now have an even chance to return to the Coliseum with the National League pennant.

The 28-year-old right - hander turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0 on five hits Wednesday night to earn the Dodgers a tie with Milwaukee for the NL lead.

Dodger Manager Walter Alston, admitting to one anxious moment in Wednesday night's game, said, "Of late Craig's been our best."

Although he has completed only 6 of his 16 starts, Craig owns a 10-5 record, including 4 straight victories and 4 shutouts, plus the lowest earned run average among NL pitchers who have worked 100 or more innings—213.

If he keeps up the presure on enemy batters, only the 154-inning rule will keep him from winning the ERA crown. He's worked 143 2-3 innings.

Craig was with Spokane until June when the Dodgers recalled him. His record there was 6-7. The year before he won 5 at St. Paul and lost 17.

Alston thought it was a mistake to walk Stan Musial in the eighth with a runner on second and one out Wednesday night.

"I didn't want Craig to walk Musial," Alston said. "I wanted him to pitch to Stan, figuring Ken Boyer could hurt us more in that particular situation."

Boyer didn't. Craig struck him out for the third time and then retired ex-Dodger Gino Cimoli on a long fly to center field.

Venturi Scores Hole-in-One to Lead SF Events

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ken Venturi just naturally commanded the most attention as the Golden Gate Championships opened here today with a field of 154 golfers, but to top it off he shot a hole-in-one Wednesday.

The No. 3 iron tee shot came on the 17th hole of Harding Park, scene of this $40,000 event, but to the thousands of public links golfers who usually play the course, it came on No. 8.

For Harding Park has reversed itself for the pros as they start on the back nine and wind up on the front.

"Maybe it's a good omen," commented the 28-year-old San Francisco golfer as he shot the ace. "My other one this year came before the Los Angeles Open."

Venturi won there with a terrific comeback. He also was a winner in his last tournament at this course where his dad heads the pro shop. That time it was the San Francisco City championship of 1956 when he defeated Harvie Ward 6 and 4.

Venturi and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla., tied for low-pro honors in the pro-amateur tournament Wednesday. The low scoring team was long hitting pro George Bayer and singer John Raitt with a best-ball of 61, including Raitt's handicap.

These two area youths, both students at Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., expect to see action Saturday when the Hamilton Continentals open their season against the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point. On the left is Thomas McCormack, a freshman tackle from High Falls. Next to him is Norman Boggs, a sophomore quarterback from Woodstock. Hamilton's record last year was 6-0-1 for the first undefeated team in the school's history.

Special Deer Seasons Set In Ulster, Other Counties

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Deer hunters may shoot deer of either sex during special open seasons in 10 counties in November and December.

The special Adirondack season will be from Nov. 22 to Dec. 1. Hunters may take any deer in a 6,000-square-mile area comprising all of Hamilton County and adjacent sections of Herkimer, St. Lawrence, Franklin, Essex and Warren counties.

The dates coincide with the last 10 days of the regular big-game season.

The open season will be Dec. 14-18 in all of Putnam County and parts of Sullivan, Ulster and Dutchess.

The open seasons were authorized earlier this year by the Legislature because of the increased deer population. The State Conservation Department set the dates Wednesday.

Northern Westchester County will have a special gunning season Jan. 11-22 (weekend excepted), following the two - month archery season there Nov. 1-Dec. 31.

Injuries Haunt Hall For Army Grid Opener

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army opens defense of its Eastern football title here against Boston College Saturday with lady luck scheduled to play an important role if the Cadets are to be successful in winning the crown two straight years. That's the opinion of no less an authority than new Coach Dale Hall.

"We're so paper thin that any more injuries will put us in real bad shape," the bespectacled Hall declared today. "We've already lost one starting tackle (Jerry Clements) and our No. 1 fullback (John Eilson) and we can't afford to lose anyone else.

"We only have four starters from last year and are not as strong defensively. We lost both our first string tackles and Bob Novogratz, our center who was particularly outstanding. He was a tremendous offensive blocker and averaged 18 tackles on defense and played about 50 minutes each game.

Could Be It

"We've finished our heavy work for the year. If we're going to lose anyone it is going to be Saturday afternoon."

Bobby Perrault, who missed Boston College's opener with Navy because of injuries, will be ready for Army on Saturday but quarterback John Amabile's status is doubtful because of painful swelling of the face and throat.

Coach Paul Amen of Wake Forest moved junior Bobby Robinson to the starting left halfback slot for Saturday's Virginia Tech game. Bob White, Ohio State's bustling fullback, returned to the first team after being sidelined with injuries. He is expected to start against Duke on Saturday.

Maryland lost soph halfback Don Vanreenan for the season because of a back injury suffered in the Terps 27-7 victory over West Virginia last Saturday.

Ellis Defeats Calhoun to Win 18th Straight

CHICAGO (AP) — Middleweight Rudy Ellis reaped a big dividend in his first television fight and now has an optimistic, hungry look.

"Maybe, with a couple years experience, I'll be fairly well known in my division," the 22-year-old Ellis said Wednesday night after pounding out a decision over Rory Calhoun, a rugged campaigner, before a national television audience.

"Anyway, I need more experience. I'll fight anyone — anywhere."

Ellis, of South Haven, Mich., earned his 18th win in 20 fights. It was his eighth straight victory and first complete 10-rounder. He has had 10 knockouts and short duration bouts.

Ellis weighed 158, Calhoun 162½ for the Chicago Stadium fight before a crowd of 837.

Calhoun, of White Plains, N.Y., took the initiative from the inexperienced Ellis at the start.

Then, Ellis seemed to gain confidence and parlayed hard rights to the head with left hooks to pile up enough points for the verdict.

Lopez Is Silent On Sox Pitcher For First Game

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox is mum on his World Series pitching plans but there isn't a betting man in the country who wouldn't wager it'll be Early Wynn in the opener.

Lopez, who spent his first day after winning the American League pennant scouting San Francisco against the Chicago Cubs, said he felt this club "has a great chance in the World Series."

"Of course," said Lopez, "we don't know who we are going to play."

The White Sox pitching rotation for the three-game, season-ending series at Detroit is all set. Billy Pierce will pitch the first game, Dick Donovan the second and Wynn and Bob Shaw will split the assignment Sunday. Star relievers Gerry Staley and Turk Lown and young Barry Latman are expected to see activity to keep in shape.

One thing which doesn't bother Lopez about the Series is his team's physical condition. It's expected to be A-1.

Center fielder Jim Landis has been out of action with a leg injury but he returned to his position in the late innings of the 4-2 clincher against Cleveland Tuesday night.

Goshen to Start Movement To Regain Trotting Event

Steps are being taken to return the Hambletonian trotting classic for 3-year-olds to Goshen where it was raced until 1957.

The Goshen Chamber of Commerce said Wednesday it would press for the return of the race from DuQuoin, Ill., after 1962, when the present contract runs out.

The Hambletonian Society removed the race from Goshen after condemning what it called "the unsatisfactory condition in which harness racing is being administered in New York State."

The U. S. Trotting Assn. and other harness racing interests were then in opposition to George P. Monaghan, the state harness racing commissioner.

Monaghan was replaced Sept. 1 by a three-man commission created earlier this year by a special session of the Legislature.

The Hambletonian had been raced at Good Time Park, a mile track.

In Tuesday's races, long shot Botany Hanover, scored in a big way at Saratoga Raceway. Botany Hanover, out at 63-1, captured the $1,800 Clarksville Trot, and returned $128, second highest payoff of the season. He covered the mile in 2:06 2-5.

Other feature-race results:

Roosevelt Raceway — Knight Pilot ($8.20) won Class A pace in 2:38 4-5 for mile-and-a-quarter.

Vernon Downs — Sea Pirate ($3.50) won $1,700 Carmen Basilio Trophy Pace in 2:01 2-5.

Buffalo Raceway — Lieutenant Frisco ($4.50) won Class A pace in 2:02 4-5.

Braves at Home For Final Stand

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee came home today to finish the National League season, tied for first place with the Los Angeles Dodgers and ready for anything.

Manager Fred Haney ordered all hands to report at County Stadium this afternoon. Instead of a day of rest on this open date, there will be a meeting and limited workout.

The Braves figure they have the best of the schedule. They finish with three home games against the last-place Phillies Friday night, Saturday and Sunday. Los Angeles plays three games at Chicago. San Francisco, two games back with three to go, winds up with three at St. Louis.

If the Braves and Dodgers march in stride there will be a best - of - three playoffs starting Monday in Milwaukee. If Milwaukee wins while the Giants and Dodgers lose in the final days, the Braves will open the World Series Wednesday at Chicago's Comiskey Park. If they flop, they can go home and watch the Series on TV.

Milwaukee four - game winning streak has been broken, but the Braves have won 13 of their last 17 games.

After Wednesday night's 5-4 defeat in their road finale at Pittsburgh, the Braves figure they must win all the rest to stay alive. They missed a chance to clinch at least a tie, so far as San Francisco is concerned, when they bowed to the Pirates.

Lew Burdette, will pitch for the Braves Friday night. It probably will be Warren Spahn (20-15) Saturday, and Bob Buhl (14-9) or Juan Pizarro (6-2) in Sunday's finale. Buhl failed Wednesday, giving way to Bob Rush after four innings. Joey Jay, however, was charged with the defeat.

27 More Youths Seized by Police

NEW YORK (AP) — Police rounded up 27 youths in two well-armed gangs Wednesday night, probably preventing more killing in the tense Bronx area where 16-year-old John Guzman was slain Monday.

One group of six youths, three of them over 21, were trapped by police on a rooftop with a pile of nine "Molotov cocktail" gasoline bombs, a shotgun with 22 shells, two hunting knives and a box of .22-caliber bullets.

A short time later three carloads of youths were spotted about four blocks way and caught after a five-block chase.

The rooftop ambush and the auto caravan apparently were the outgrowth of a planned "rumble" between the gang to which Guzman had belonged and the gang identified with his killers.

Noted Author Guest Speaker For Onteora P-TA Meeting

Dr. Robert Rienow, author of the book "Our New Life With the Atom," will speak at the year's first P-TA meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 30, at 7:45 p. m. at the Onteora Central school.

Dr. Rienow, Professor of Political Science at the New York State College for Teachers, is a person of manifold abilities both as a professional educator and writer. He is a past president of the New York State Political Science Assn., a member of the New York State Regents Advisory Group on Academic Teacher Certification, and is associated with a considerable number of other professional and community organizations. One of his many college textbooks "Introduction to Government" is presently being used by the seniors at the Onteora School.

Matthew Ostoyich of the Onteora faculty, who has studied under Dr. Rienow, has described him as "a dynamic personality, with the ability to stimulate and inspire both as a teacher and speaker." Dr. Rienow has chosen as his topic for discussion "How we can control the atom before it controls us." A question and answer period will follow.

At this meeting, P-TA has arranged to have copies of Dr. Rienow's book available for purchase, and he will be happy to autograph them. An invitation is extended to everyone.

Troop 86 Scouts Thrilled With Idlewild Visit

Eighteen girls and six adults from Troop No. 86 Intermediate Girl Scouts of Boiceville, made a trip to Idlewild Airport in New York, the purpose of the trip being to earn credit for Aviation Badges.

Upon arrival at the airport, and after "nosebag" lunches, amidst a stiff breeze and beautiful surroundings, the group was taken on an informative and inspiring planned tour by airport guide, Jonas Cowles.

First came a visit to the 11th floor of the Control Tower where Jonas, who made fast friends with the girls and was now known as "Jo" to one and all, gave a complete rundown on all buildings as to size, cost, etc.

The airport tower offered a tremendous view of the planes and helicopters and the newest of jets coming and going to and from all parts of the world.

Leaving the tower, the group proceeded to the newest and main building. It was tremendous in size and beautifully appointed. There they watched the Electronic Board of flight arrivals and departures, a tour through Customs and a snack bar on the observation deck, during which time a jet arrived from Rome with 115 passengers. Then followed a tour through the British Airlines office.

Visit Jet Plane

The group then took their station wagon out on the field to the Northwest Orient Airline hangers, where they boarded a DC-7-C, a turbo-jet being made ready for a flight to Japan. The girls were free to explore the interior of the plane while Cowles explained the workings of all of the fantastic gear used in flight.

It will be a long time before the girls and adults forget "Jo" and his spellbinding stories of famous people pass through in real life events that take place in a run of the mill day in one of the world's largest airports.

The group extended its thanks to Mr. and Mrs. E. Gardner, Harry Carle, Norman Wilber, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henkel not only for their guidance, but for providing transportation.

Special thanks were extended to Eugene Gormley of Phoenicia, who due to a last minute emergency could not attend, but provided the girls with a station wagon for the trip.

Democrats Caucus Slated Tonight

Enrolled voters of the Democratic party in Woodstock meet in caucus tonight at 8 p. m. in the Town Hall to choose a slate of candidates for the coming election.

Offices to be filled this year are: town supervisor, one councilman, one Justice of the Peace, highway superintendent, town clerk, assessor for 4 years and assessor for 2 years. All enrolled Democrats and independents are invited.

Onteora Scouts' Calendar Listed

Following is the Onteora Girl Scouts calendar:

Troop 80, Brownies, Mrs. Dorothy Burke and Mrs. Raymond Conklin, Leaders, will meet Tuesdays from 3:45 p. m. to 5:00 p. m. at Onteora Central School, Boiceville.

Troop 83, Brownies, Mrs. Robert Castle, Leader, will meet on Wednesdays. Girls will be notified of the date and the time. Anyone interested in enrolling their girls should contact Mrs. Robert Castle of Shokan.

Troop 86, Intermediates, Mrs. Arthur Henkel and Mrs. John Malloy, Leaders, will meet Tuesdays from 3:45 p. m. to 5 p. m. at Onteora Central School, Boiceville.

Any girls in the area, between the ages of 7 and 9, who are interested in joining the troop may contact Miss Esther Riseley of Allaben.

Town Notes

The monthly meeting of the Woodstock Town Board, postponed from last week to avoid conflict with the Republican caucus, will be held tnight at 8 o'clock at the fire hall.

Members of the Woodstock Methodist Parish will greet the new pastor, the Rev. James Cook and his family, at an open house reception Friday between 7 p. m. and 9 p. m. All members are invited.

Nina Tiano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Tiano of the lower Ohayo Mountain Road, was guest of honor at her first birthday party on Sunday. About twenty-five relatives attended and showered Nina with many beautiful presents and cards.

Advance reservations indicate that the first annual clambake sponsored by the Woodstock Country Club will attract more than 100 persons on Sunday. The bake starts at 12 noon with hors d'oeuvres, with the main bake scheduled at 4 p. m.

County Quota Is 2,605 For Legion Membership

In response to a request from Martin B. McKneally of Newburgh, national commander of the American Legion, County Membership Chairman Thomas Bohan has sent out to all Legion commanders an appeal to enroll a record membership in the county Legion posts for 1960. The Ulster County quota is 2,605 and Chairman Bohan has drawn up Post quotas for the 14 Legion Posts of the county.

14 Posts Given Quotas

National Commander McKneally has set the target-date of Veterans Day, November 11, for re-enrollment of all 1959 members. The second target date is Dec. 31, a date which ties in with the American Legion Life Insurance Program, the Legion's low-cost group insurance plan, and the final target date for exceeding the 1959 quota is the 41st anniversary of the Legion, March 15, 1960, when all Posts are being called upon to "beat the highest membership on record."

All 14 American Legion Posts in Ulster County have been assigned quotas, based upon past membership totals. These Posts are:

Bohan Confident

"We know we will exceed our county quota of 2,605 but we are anxious that each post exceed its quota before December 31," Chairman Bohan told post commanders.

The Ulster County American Legion will hold its September meeting Monday, Sept. 28, at Woodstock, with the Ladies Auxiliary holding its county meeting on the same date at the same place. County Commander Benjamin Bragg of Highland has asked for a large attendance with representation from every post in the county.

Negotiators Resume Steel Strike Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Another day of steel strike bargaining, which a federal mediator calls "a frustrating spectacle," and the union president describes as wasted, was scheduled for today.

Subcommittee of negotiators for the United Steel Workers Union and the nation's steel industry are scheduled to confer, with no top-level negotiation scheduled until Friday.

The 72-day-old strike has idled half a million steel workers and some 160,000 other workers.

USW President David McDonald Wednesday said that "absolutely no progress" had been made in two weeks of talks by the subcommittees.

Federal Mediator Joseph F. Finnegan, while agreeing that "it sure as hell has been a frustrating spectacle," added that he thought the subcommittees had cleared away "a lot of underbrush."

President Eisenhower, through Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, appealed Wednesday to both parties in the strike to get down to real bargaining and settle the dispute.

Khrush Sincere On Arms Plan, Stevenson Avers

COON RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson says Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev expressed confidence inspection controls could be worked out for his disarmament plan.

Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956, told this to newsmen after he had talked with Khrushchev for an hour at the farm of Roswell Garst here.

The Soviet Premier is to spend the weekend talking with President Eisenhower at Camp David in the mountains of northwest Maryland.

One of the major items on their agenda is disarmament.

Stevenson said he believes the Soviet leader was sincere when he made his plea for total disaramament last week before the United Nations. It calls for phased disarmament over a four-year period.

"We should not dismiss too impetuously the sincerity of the proposals," Stevenson said.

Stevenson said he thinks Khrushchev's position on disarmament controls has changed. In the past, the Soviets have resisted any idea of inspection to enforce any disarmament agreement. The United States has insisted on such safeguards to prevent cheating.

The first radio signal was sent and received across the Atlantic in 1901.

Khrushchev Due At Camp David Friday, 6 P.M.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Here is Premier Nikita Khrushchev's schedule for Friday (times eastern daylight):

10:10 a.m. — Leaves President's guest house to visit National Institutes of Health and other points of interest in Washington area.

12:30 p. m. — Returns President's guest house.

4:30 p. m. — Departs by car for Camp David, Md.

6 p.m.—Arrival at Camp David.
